Westgate Subdivision Asks Board for 'Green Light'

The Editor's column

Our report of a recent wrestling match in Arlington high school gym brought about a lot of criticism, but we have now got it "official."

Zack Malkow, one of the wrestlers at the aforementioned match, was guest speaker last Wednesday at St. John's fathers' and sons' banquet in Arlington Heights. He told us that wrestling matches have become exhibition because the public wants it that way. "Clean wrestling would not bring any crowds," said Malkow. "The rougher it is, the greater number of fans. Yes, it is rough and contestants can be permanently injured if they are not properly trained," added the wrestler who enters a ring nearly every night in the week.

Malkow was asked a lot of questions that evening and practically all of them came from youngsters, 6 to 12 years. They knew the names of all prominent wrestlers and the particular holds they use. Television has made the coming generation wrestling minded.

We feel 20 years younger since last Thursday night, when in spite of our three score and eleven years, we received an honorary membership in the JC's, the age limit for which is 35. They didn't think we were quite ready for a wheel chair.

However, those JC's are so active, we may have to buy a motor scooter if we are to keep up with them. The goals that young organization have attained in the short year of its eixstence is surprising.

We discovered this week that physicians of both Palatine and Arlington Heights are in agreement upon the need for a 100-bed hospital in this area.

Public funds available for that purpose are slowly drying up. Proponents of a hospital in Morton Grove hope to include Arlington Heights in its area set-up. It may or may not be too late, but an investigation is worth a gambler's chance.

We can't resist saying that if Arlington Heights plan commission put forth as much effort in prying lose the cover that is keeping the recommendation of Stanton & Rockwell bottled up as it does in opposing the Kimball Hill project a lot of time would be saved. We equally need some "affirmative" action.

The plan commission did a wonderful job in securing the Arlington Heights master plan, but the village board, up to the present time, has only given it filing space.

Listening at the school board area meeting held at Mount Prospect school last week, we would like to gently tip off taxpayers that more than one of our schools will soon be asking for higher tax rates. We know you are not surprised. Human production threatens to either break our schools or the taxpayers.

Some people are just realizing that our school costs have been creeping up on us for some time. The loyal PTA members who have fought and won election battles have a new selling job this year convincing members of the state legislature that a 1930 school tax law will not suffice for 1953 educational needs.

We sat in on a confab at our Fox River cottage Sunday between Carl Megel, former Palatine high school coach, who is now president of the American Federation of Teachers, and G. A. McElroy, superintendent of Palatine high school. We learned a lot of things about the national school picture which cannot fit into this column, but there is one bit of eavesdropping that bears repeating.

Megel said many coaches would lose their jobs this year because of the poor showing their teams made.

"In the old days, the athletic departments of schools and colleges were more interested in developing manhood than in the cash receipts of their department," said Megel. "I remember the first year I was a coach in Palatine. It was a disastrous athletic season. When I inquired if I would still have my job the following year, President T. C. Hart said "Your job does not depend upon the number of basketball games you win." Too many of our schools are becoming commercialized to the extent that sinew is given greater recognition than brains."

We interrupted the discussion to say: "Arlington Heights recently built what is called a million dollar gym. Palatine is building one that is costing nearly as much." We taxpayers were told the gyms were needed for the physical education of our boys and girls. Nothing was said about their profit-making possibility and we think Arlington Heights and Palatine school boards believe developing manhood is more important than cash receipts.

HAVE YOU POPPED THE QUESTION?

"What's Deductible?" is the question all taxpayers are asking themselves these days when filling out their income tax forms. Learn what is deductible by reading this week's informative article written by Ernest Sauber, collector for this district, appearing in Section Four of Paddock Publications.

One of the oldest and best-loved of children's fairy stories will come to life Sunday afternoon on the stage of the Arlington Heights high school auditorium, when the Village Theatre presents "Jack and the Beanstalk." The play will be given twice—at 2 p. m. and again at 4 p. m. Violet Jeffrey, left, and Curtis Dahl head the excellent cast as Jack and the Giant, and Mrs. Robert Hawley is directing the production. Though the play is being given especially for the children, adults are also invited. The production should prove entertaining for all ages. Admission is twenty-five cents. —Folkman Photo.

'Keep Arlington Heights a Residential Community,' Is Slogan Of New Village Party

It was announced today that a new Arlington Heights political party has been formed because of public demand to keep Arlington Heights a truly residential community. The candidates for the offices to be voted upon April 21 are Albert W. Goedke for president of the village board, Robert S. Bishop, Charles C. Rehfeldt, and Richard Bronwell for trustees, and Carl H. Weinrich for village clerk. This new political party will be known as the Arlington Home Party. The organization includes Edmund J. O'Brien, 803 N. Pine ave. as party chairman.

"This new party," said Mr. O'Brien, "has been formed because we believe that the interests of the people of Arlington Heights can best be served by "home owners" without any special interests to uphold or defend. This party, in a sense, is a coalition of all the many homeowner groups of the past who have tried unsuccessfully to register the fact that the people of Arlington Heights want to keep this community a simple, friendly place to live . . . a city predominantly of homes with a local government that is fair and efficient in relation to the interests of all the people who live here."

FOR THE IMPORTANT offices of village trustees, the party asked three representative citizens whose fundamental interests would be that of the home owner and resident to serve as candidates. According to Mr. O'Brien, "None of the Arlington Home Party candidates for trustee own property in town other than their homes . . . and none are owners or employees of companies where local financial interest may exist."

Robert B. Bishop resides at 530 S. Chestnut ave. He has served as a member of the board of directors of the Community Chest, and is a past commander of the Merle Guild American Legion Post, where he was twice elected to that office. He is a member of the General Citizens committee and the Kiwanis club, and is chairman of the board of trustees of the Arlington Heights Methodist church. Mr. Bishop is vice-president of the Bishop Publishing company in Chicago. This company has won national recognition in recent years by designing freedom posters that have been awarded top honors by the Freedom Foundation for the promotion of the "American Way of Life."

Charles C. Rehfeldt lives at 933 N. Patton ave. and has been a resident of Arlington Heights for the last 14 years. He has been employed by Montgomery Ward and Co. since 1932 and is now an assistant division manager of one of the buying divisions. He is a member of St. Peter Lutheran church and Arlington Lions club. He is also a member of the Pestalozzi Foundation of America for the assistance of distressed children all over the world.

Richard Bronwell moved to Arlington Heights in 1949 and lives at 403 N. Douglas ave. He is head of his own export business, Bronwell International. In 1949 he was a recipient of a key award by the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce for outstanding association service. He was one of the organizers and founders of the Logan Square Boys' club. Mr. Bronwell was first secretary of the Arlington Heights South Side Property Owners association, and is a member of the Arlington Heights Methodist church.

FOR PRESIDENT of the village board the Arlington Home Party sought a man who was free of special interests, recognized for honesty, with ability, experience, and time to give to the executive problems of the Arlington Heights government. These requiring standards led to the home of Albert W. Goedke, who already has competently and faithfully served as village president for the last 12 years. The office of village president is administrative and requires time, understanding judgment, and ability. President Goedke is virtually retired from business and can give practically all of his time to the services of this community. During the last 12 years he has demonstrated his fairness and honesty in administering his office. His interest and concern in the many problems of this community, and his constant desire to keep the cost of government as low as possible have won him the warm affection of all who know him.

FOR VILLAGE CLERK the party looked for a man who was sincere, conscientious, and capable, who could supervise and handle the many details of the village clerk's office. Mr. Weinrich's 10 years service in the important position of financial secretary of St. Peter Lutheran church is evidence of his capacity. He is owner and operator of his own shoe repair business in Arlington Heights and is a member of the Lions club and the Chamber of Commerce.

It is the desire of the Arlington Home Party to offer to the people of Arlington Heights a group of candidates possessing new, vigorous, and progressive views which are exemplified by the three candidates for the offices of trustee combined with Albert W Goedke's experience, wisdom, and exhaustive knowledge of our village affairs.

Boy Scout Paper Drive This Saturday

Boy scouts of Arlington Hts. will hold their monthly paper drive this Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m., when all boy and explorer scouts are asked to meet at either the North or South public schools for assignment.

Cub scouts will tour the town Friday night on a "cow bell" parade, as a timely reminder to residents to place their old magazines and newspapers on the curb early Saturday morning. Residents are asked to tie the papers in bundles, which will prevent the wind from blowing them away, and make it easier for the scouts to collect them.

Plan 238 Homes Priced $17,000 To $24,000

Wheels were set in motion Tuesday night to proceed with the development of Unit I of the proposed Westgate subdivision in Arlington Heights, which calls for the erection of 238 new homes.

G. A. Higgins, attorney for Reuter Home Builders, Inc., which plans to develop the area, appeared before the village board to secure permission to have the village engineers draw up plans and specifications for streets, curbs, gutters, storm sewers, water mains and sidewalks in the subdivision. Since the plat was approved by the village board in 1949 the trustees thought it advisable to consult with the planning commission, as some of the lots do not meet the minimum village requirements under a new ordinance passed since the land was originally platted. It had never been recorded.

The trustees, members of the plan commission and Attorney Higgins will meet Tuesday night to further discuss the matter.

THE FIRST UNIT consists of 63 acres, bounded on the north by Euclid ave., west by Wilke rd., south by Campbell ave. and east by Yale ave. The lots vary in size from 60 to 100 feet and are platted on the curvilinear style. The developer plans to build three bedroom minimum ranch style homes of brick, which would sell between $17,000 and $20,000. Four bedroom homes will sell for as high as $24,000.

Streets are to be 66 feet wide and several acres for public park and school sites are set aside in the plat.

Unit II, which is bounded by Campbell on the north, Wilke on the west, Yale on the east and Kirchhoff on the south, consists of 120 acres and is directly east of the proposed Kimball Hill project. The developer has an option to buy this land but no action is expected to be taken for several months. However, it is hoped to proceed with Unit I so that building may be started this spring and the first homes occupied this summer.

Board Revises One-Way Parking Plan

The original plan for one-way traffic on certain Arlington Heights streets south of the railroad, has been expanded to include Davis st., where traffic will flow west from Evergreen to Vail st.

The plan was officially endorsed by the special traffic committee and interested persons who met with them last week. Those present included 11 men of the police department and superintendent Becker. They re-examined the plan and expressed many ideas with regard to its effect upon the parking situation.

IN ORDER to provide as smooth a transition as possible from the old to the new traffic flow, it was agreed that the plan would go into effect on the first Monday following the first weekend that the streets are dry enough to re-mark parking spaces on the pavement. Mr. Becker plans on doing this work starting on a late Saturday evening and continuing straight through on Sunday until the job is completed.

Trustee Edward Carlisle, chairman of the police committee, by virtue of authority provided in the vehicle traffic ordinance, has directed that the necessary traffic information signs be purchased to put the plan into effect. This has been done, and the street department has been alerted to plan for the installation.

Correlated with the one-way street proposal is the metered parking plan as has been outlined on the map posted for study in the council room.

IT REPRESENTS what the committee thinks is the ideal for ultimate installation to gain the objectives sought, viz:

1. To accumulate revenues to finance the purchase of off-street parking lots and the employment of additional traffic officers.
2. To fairly distribute existing available parking areas.

The committee suggests there be included in the meter system, the commuter parking lots and other semi-public off street parking lots, owner or operated by stores, etc. It suggests some sort of a contractual arrangement with the village for the metering, marking, maintenance and policing of the areas. It is possible that parking meters on the streets may cause traffic jams and accidents at their entrance and exits.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL SITE TO APPEAR ON APRIL BALLOT

Pat Nolan Wins County Spelling Bee

Patricia Nolan, 12, seventh grade student at Arlington Heights Junior high school, walked off with first place honors in the annual Cook county spelling bee Monday night, which was sponsored by the Chicago Daily News.

As a result of this victory Pat will go to Washington, D. C. to compete in the national finals this spring. She also won a short wave radio.

Robert Siegel, 13, of Arlington Heights, district winner last December, was also competing and was the nineteenth to go down out of 36 contestants. The contest included all sectional winners of public school contests in the county outside of the city of Chicago, as well as winners of the sectional spelling contests for all parochial schools of Cook county, including Chicago. Bob is in the eighth grade at the Junior high school and was spelled down on the word "treatise." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Siegel.

PAT, DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nolan, competed at the end of the contest against Raymond Deutsch of a Chicago parochial school. They both missed the word "effulgence" and remained in the bee. Ray then misspelled "autonomous" and Pat spelled it correctly and went on to spell "cudgel" to win the contest.

Russell Savage, principal of the Junior high school, said practice for the spelling bee actually began last October, with inter-class contests held to aid in picking out the best spellers. The seven top spellers in an all school contest were then drilled 40 minutes a day for three weeks before the district contest in December, in which six of the seven competed. Pat came in second in the district.

Following the holidays, Savage, and Pat's and Bob's parents, drilled the youngsters for from 40 to 60 minutes a day for another three weeks. Savage said that some of the contestants in the finals had been drilled in spelling for four hours a day since last September. He said that at least three-fourths of the words used in the finals were new to the contestants.

LAST YEAR Pat won the district contest and placed sixth in the finals. Bob was also in the finals and placed fifth. Since Pat has won in two county finals she will not be eligible to compete in the bee next year.

Janet Arseneau, who is in the eighth grade at Palatine Community Consolidated grade school, also competed in the finals. She was the seventeenth to go down, misspelling the word, "commendable." Janet had placed third in the district.

Two Found Guilty Of Burning Farm Building

Harry J. Griffith and Vern Richmeier of Arlington Heights were found guilty by a jury in Judge Covelli's court last Friday of setting fire and burning a 1½ story house on Kirchhoff road west of Wilke road, Arlington Heights.

Richard Hoffman of Arlington Heights, and Benedict Breiling of Des Plaines were found not guilty by the jury of three women and nine men, who deliberated three hours before bringing in a verdict.

Confessions of the boys were admitted as evidence. Griffith and Richmeier admitted that they carried the gasoline into the house and set it afire. The other boys remained in the auto that was used.

The same evening, the boys had engaged in other acts, and are reported to have made restitution for damages. They will be required to face charges of disorderly conduct in Judge Neumann's court. The two who were found not guilty in the criminal court will appear before Judge Neumann Thursday.

Judge Covelli will hear arguments for a new trial or appeal February 20. Chief Skoog and Officer Johnson, who received the confessions of the boys and signed the complaints, were witnesses.

Await Court Decision On Roth Zoning And Annexation

Superior court Judge Rudolph Desort Monday indicated he may rule within two weeks upon a zoning dispute which has stalled construction of a $2,000,000 plant in Arlington Heights.

The suit was filed last fall by George, Elsie, Louis and Martha Kirchhoff and the Roth Manufacturing company. Named defendants are the village of Arlington Heights and a number of property owners.

It began when the village on March 17, 1952, annexed a 77 acre tract extending from Central rd. north to the Chicago and North Western railroad right-of-way and west from Mount Prospect village limits. In August, all but a small portion at the southwest corner was rezoned from farming to industrial.

Then in September the Kirchhoff family entered into a contract to sell the tract to the Roth company, a heating equipment manufacturer with a Chicago plant at 4501 W. 16th st. The sale is dependent upon reclassification of the land for industrial use.

In August, after the rezoning ordinance was passed, a separate suit was filed in Superior court by Attorney Robert S. Bremer, alderman of Chicago's 50th ward, seeking to have the rezoning and annexation set aside. Bremer represents James Cusack, who in turn is a defendant with Arlington Heights in the suit filed by Kirchhoff.

THE KIRCHHOFF suit asks a declaratory judgment to uphold the action of the Arlington Heights board of trustees. The plaintiffs contend that the ruling is required to permit construction of a $2,000,000 plant by the Roth company.

The defendants, other than the village, contend that the annexation is illegal on the following grounds. The site is adjacent to a tract on the south side of the railroad tracks which was annexed by Arlington Heights as a sewage disposal plant site in December, 1951.

THE ANNEXATION was by action of the village board, which is permissible where the land to be annexed is uninhabited. The plaintiffs contend that a caretaker at the sewage disposal plant, Harold Dobbins, and his family, lived on the tract since 1949. Therefore, the defendants assert, the 1951 annexation was illegal and the tract earmarked for the Roth plant is not contiguous with Arlington Heights and cannot be annexed.

On the question of zoning, the defendants, many of whom live in the Mount Prospect area adjacent to the proposed industrial site, contend that an industrial status would reduce the value of their homes. The homes were built with the understanding that the adjacent land, then zoned for farming use, would remain so or be used for residential purposes, they state.

The ruling of Judge Desort is expected first to determine whether the issues of zoning and annexation are to be decided separately, and also whether possible illegality of the 1951 annexation of the sewage plant site would affect annexation of the industrial plant acreage.

Consider North Elmhurst Sites; Future School Needs Under Study

The April ballot of Arlington Heights township high school will in all probability carry the question of an additional high school site.

The rapid increase in elementary school enrollment has served as a warning of a high school pupil load within the next few years which will more than tax the capacity of the present high school building.

The exact situation was outlined by Martin Maher at the area school conference last week, when he said in part, "The desirable high school population is 1500. Within two years Arlington Heights high school will have an enrollment of 1,600 and within ten years 4,000 to 6,000."

THE HIGH SCHOOL board became aware of the situation early last fall after George Larson of the high school faculty conducted a survey to learn effect on future high school attendance by new home construction and the increasing grade school enrollment.

Larson's report convinced members of the high school board that the selection of a site or sites for future growth should be made at once.

They consulted with Dr. Merle Sumption of the University of Illinois, relative to a site study, which he recently completed. Number one of the possible sites suggested by him is in the vicinity of Elmhurst rd., somewhere between Euclid and Foundry rd. If within a 1½ mile radius of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights, the new school plant would eliminate considerable transportation cost.

LOOKING FORWARD to future development of Elk Grove area, he also suggested sites on Busse rd., either in the neighborhood of Algonquin rd. or Oakton st.

Charles Wilson is acting as a representative of the school board in negotiations for possible sites. An appraiser will be consulted regarding value of any tract for which the board may decide to enter into negotiations.

What to do with the site after acquiring it is the next question facing the board. It can be used as a supplementary school or as a new four year unit.

TO AID THEM in finding the right answer, the board has secured the services of Dr. McSwain, dean of the College of Education of Northwestern university who will be assisted by Dr. Park and Dr. Childress, also by a group of graduate students. A study will be made relative to the educational and physical building needs of the area to be served by the proposed school or schools.

In planning for the future, consideration must also be given to the future high school needs of Forest River, which will cease to be a part of a non-high school district next July. It will either be attached to Arlington Heights or Maine.

Planning Head Asks Board To Hire Expert To Fight Kimball Hill Building Project

A letter from Kimball Hill and associates asking the village to withdraw its objections to the proposed development of Rolling Meadows subdivision was read at the village board meeting Tuesday night.

The developers felt that in view of the fact the county zoning board of appeals recommended the rezoning of the tract, which lies south of the Arlington Park race track, west of Wilke rd., north of Kirchhoff rd., and east of Rohlwing rd., the village should withdraw its objections. The matter is now before the Cook county board of commissioners, who will take action on the zoning board's recommendation February 9.

WILLARD WALTERS, president of the Arlington Heights planning commission, feels the village is justified in voicing its objections. He recommended the village hire an expert to study the proposed subdivision and be prepared to give testimony supporting the village's objections before the Cook county board Monday. The hiring of such an expert would cost $150 for him to make the survey, and another $250 to present his findings to the county board.

Objections are based on the fact that the development is contrary to the master plan that has been prepared by Stanton and Rockwell, planning engineers, for the village of Arlington Heights, which calls for the erection of estate homes thereon, with lots of 20,000 to 40,000 square feet.

One trustee voiced the thought as to whether or not the village should take any further action in view of the fact businessmen and residents alike do not seem particularly interested in the matter. He said he had heard little comment, outside the board and plan commission, stressing an opinion one way or the other on the proposition.

THE BOARD thought it would be advisable for residents or businessmen, who were of the same opinion as the board, to attend the County board meeting Monday to back up the village's objections.

The board approved hiring of the expert.

Rolling Meadows, if approved, will consist of nearly 1700 homes on 60 foot wide lots. The area is to have its own sewer and water system, school, park, shopping area, streets and sidewalks. The two and three bedroom homes are to sell for approximately $11,000 to $13,000.

Loses Hand Caught In Feed Truck Auger

Irvin Guenther of Pape and Guenther Brothers, Arlington Heights, lost his right hand as a result of an accident while operating a bulk feed truck last Friday afternoon.

Guenther, who was making a delivery at the Featherhill Poultry Farm, Wauconda, got his fingers caught in the auger, which he thought had been turned off. He was taken to St. Theresa hospital, Waukegan, where it was found all the tendons were pulled out of his arm and it was necessary to amputate the hand. He will be confined to the hospital for several weeks.

He lives at 14 S. Maple st., Mount Prospect. His brother, Wally, lost his hand last year in an accident while operating a corn picker.

Des Plaines Voters Turn Down City Manager

The voters of the city of Des Plaines overwhelmingly turned down the city managership plan at a special election last Saturday. The vote on the plan was: yes 821; against 3006. The second proposition was for or against keeping aldermen on the job. It lost by 1400 votes.

Youth For Christ Founder To Be Guest Speaker At Free Church

Dr. Torrey M. Johnson, founder of Youth For Christ International, will be the speaker Sunday, February 8 at Arlington Hts. Evangelical Free church, which meets regularly every Sunday evening at 7 p. m. in the North school, 410 N. State rd.

Dr. Johnson, who founded Youth For Christ International, saw this organization grow in the first four years to become the largest Protestant youth organization in the world.

Although still a young man and in great demand for youth meetings and revival campaigns, Dr. Johnson has been a seminary professor teaching New Testament Greek for six years and has been the pastor of one church continuously for more than eighteen years. He has preached throughout the United States and Canada and in capital cities of many of the nations throughout the world. In his preaching tours he has spoken in great mass meetings ranging upward of sixty-five thousand in attendance in football stadiums and civic auditoriums throughout America.

Dr. Johnson believes that revival is the only hope of the world today and to that end he has dedicated his strength and his talents.

Notice of Public Hearing

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held on a petition for an amendment to the Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois, at 8:00 P.M., Monday evening, February 23, 1953, in the Municipal Building of said Village, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

The property involved is legally described as follows:

Lot 3 in Carol's Subdivision in the South East Quarter of Section 30, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, in the Village of Arlington Heights, County of Cook, State of Illinois: and Lot 325 in Arlington Manor, being a subdivision of part of the South East Quarter of Section 30, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, in the Village of Arlington Heights, County of Cook, State of Illinois.

The above described property is located South of the C. & N. W. Railroad to a line parallel with Eastman Street and extends Westerly from Salem Avenue a distance of approximately 232 feet.

The amendment as proposed seeks to rezone the above described property from its present classification of Residential District "A" to Industrial District, or such variation of the Zoning Ordinance of said Village as the Zoning Board of Appeals may have the power to grant.

All interested persons should attend this public hearing and will be given an opportunity to be heard.

EASTWOOD EVENTS

Community Group

A movie on home decorating —not just painting — but the whole works, was shown at Eastwood Community Association's February meeting last Tuesday evening at the fieldhouse. Mrs. Herman Raasch and Mrs. Norman Johnson were hostesses for the meeting. The social committee reported that they have planned to break that mid-winter let down feeling by holding a Men's stag party February 20 at the home of Bill Kasper, 302 N. Lincoln lane. The date of Eastwood's second annual spring dance was set for May 23.

Many farewell parties have been given for the Robert Dondanvilles, who are moving to California. Their tentative plans are to settle in the San Fernando Valley.

Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. McCarthy have returned home from a 2½ week trip to the west coast. While in Long Beach, they visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sadlers. The McCarthys flew both ways. With the aid of an 80 mile an hour tailwind, they made the return trip in 5 hours and 20 minutes.

Acting as a delegate, Mrs. Eileen Anderson attended the winter meeting of the Northwest Suburban Council of Catholic Women, which was held last Friday afternoon at St. Peter's church, Skokie.

Visit Away

Mr. and Mrs. William Kasper are visiting her father, Frank Suki Sr., in Nakomis, Fla. While the Kaspers are away his parents, the Otto J. Kaspers, are staying with the children.

Former Eastwoodites, Alice and Gus Buesing, gave a housewarming party Saturday night at their new home in Scarsdale Estates. Among the guests present were the Anton Weismuellers, the Sig Hollingers, the Guilfoils, the Harry Menicks and the Norman Hoyms.

Marie Scott, daughter of the Robert Scotts, was a guest of Jerry Duro and his three daughters Sunday at the showing of the three dimensional movie "B'wanna Devil" in Chicago. After the show the little girls were treated to dinner at the Milo restaurant.

Vacationers

"Tippy" their dog, accompanied the Lester Petersens on their 2½ week trip to Lake Apopka in central Florida and their tour of the east coast. While the Petersens were away, Andrew Olson, Mrs. Petersen's father, spent the time visiting relatives in Evanston.

At the St. James Catholic Women's Guild Fur Fashion show, Mrs. Jack Mutti modeled the very lush and expensive ranch mink coat. She looked stunning and really did justice to the lovely coat.

Recuperating from chicken pox are Lenore and Lynn Radosti, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Radosti of Dryden place.

Speech Correction

Graduate training in speech correction will be offered at Northern Illinois State Teachers college beginning next summer. Graduate work in speech correction will lead to the degree master of science in education.

Sidelights of Arlington Heights

Penny Miles, 9, Roberta Hawley, 10, and Connie Beckway, 9, gave a variety show January 26 at Penny's home, 319 S. Dunton ave. Admission was five cents, and the proceeds, 45 cents, were contributed to the polio fund. Neighborhood boys and girls were invited and lemonade was served.

Moving

Having lived in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect for the past 15 years, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lull will be missed when they move to Wilmette February 14. Mrs. Lull, well-known pianist, who for many years has accompanied the Mt. Prospect Woman's club choruses and who has taught music in Arlington Heights, and Mr. Lull are taking one of Wilmette's two story apartments with its own small plot of ground about it, where they will have all of the comforts of a house and the conveniences of an apartment. A graduate of St. Luke's hospital school of nursing, following two years at Carleton college, the Lulls' daughter, Miriam, is now with the veterans' administration in Long Beach, Calif., and at the same time is doing upper division work at UCLA in connection with her profession. Mr. and Mrs. Lulls' son, Richard, who also attended Carleton college, is now in the navy, taking training in electronics and stationed on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

R. C. Nealy, 222 Derbyshire lane, western manager of International Paper Co., with headquarters in Chicago, has been transferred to the home office at Montreal, Canada, where he will be an assistant to the president of the company. His family regretfully leaves Arlington Heights, which has been their home since August, 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller, 315 N. Vail ave., moved Saturday to Glenview. Mrs. Fuller is the former Ann Volz of Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Flora Ogren is moving in with her daughter, Mrs. Helen Reis, 722 N. Ridge ave.

Explorer Scout Leader Training Course Over

The first council-wide Explorer leaders training course will complete its final session the weekend of February 7-8, at Camp Lowden, Oregon, Ill.

The week-end program includes sno-shoe races, moskeet shooting, canoe portaging and packing, archery, target shooting, bait casting and craft instruction in fly tying and pack basket weaving and will be climaxed with a victory dinner Saturday night.

The training course, consisting of six sessions, was attended by 57 Explorer scouts, advisors and a staff of 6 adults.

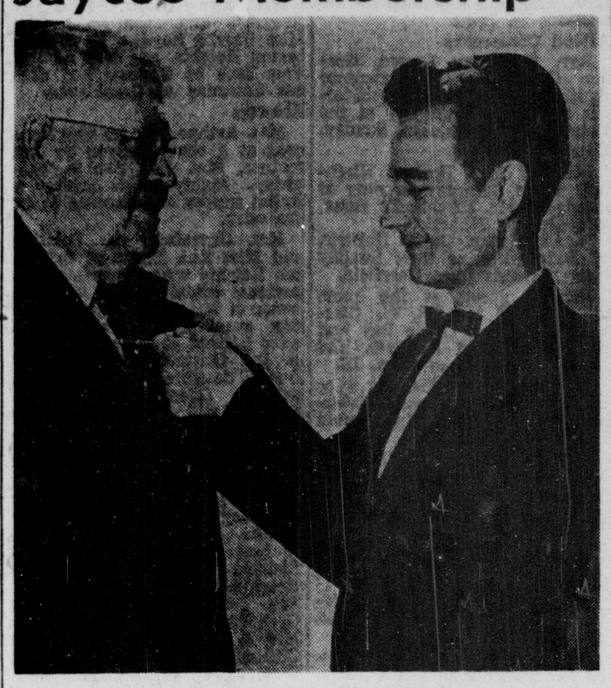
Staff for Northwest Suburban council training course consisted of J. L. Minerva, assistant scout executive as advisor; T. W. Vayo, senior crew leader and crew leaders Harry Mendenhall, George Torhan, Alexander Lowry, Jack Dawson and Joe Cissna, field scout executive, under the sponsorship of Northwest Suburban council, Boy Scouts of America.

Scouts To Get Charter

Boy Scout troop 56 of Arlington Heights, which is sponsored by Faith Lutheran church, will receive their charter Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the church.

All parents and interested young men are invited to attend the presentation of the charter to this new troop.

Editor Given Honorary Jaycee Membership



STUART PADDOCK, SR. AND BRUNO WAARA

Stuart Paddock, Sr., editor of Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights, was the honored guest and speaker last Thursday evening at the initiation banquet of the Wheeling Township Jaycees.

Paddock's speech, which delved into his lifelong experiences as an "old-time" editor, was preceded by the awarding of an honorary membership in the Wheeling Jaycees and the presentation of a special pin. The presentation and award was made by Bruno Waara, president.

SINCE IT WAS just a little less than a year ago that the chapter was awarded its official charter, the banquet was regarded as an anniversary celebration. Three new members received the charge and were made full-fledged members by toastmaster Bob LeForge. The new members are Stan Dalley, Eugene Oliver and Carl Scheske.

President Waara briefly reviewed the achievements of the chapter during its first year. Ted Seiler presented his revised version of the Jaycee Freedom Forum in a talk entitled, "U. S. A. The Permanent Revolution," a review of the fundamentals of American democracy. (ACM

National Testing Service Available To Arlington High Pupils

Through the National Student Testing Service, the Arlington Heights high school will offer its students a series of interest, aptitude and ability tests at a nominal fee.

The tests will be given February 23 and 24, but the fee of $1.50 must be turned in at the school office not later than Thursday, Feb. 5. Any student in school is eligible to take the tests, which are highly recommended by the faculty counselors. A similar service from a commercial agency costs about $15.

Each student will be given a personal interpretation of the test by one of the faculty counselors. Parents may attend these interpretation interviews.

This same program was offered last year and 245 students participated.

The tests to be given are the California Test of Mental Maturity or ACE Psychological Examination, Iowa Silent Reading Test, Bell Adjustment Inventory, California Occupational Interest Inventory and Bennet Mechanical Comprehension Test.

Discuss Teacher And Tax Rate Problems

Securing enough teachers next year for the local grade schools is going to present a real problem, a panel of educators told members of the Arlington Area School Board Association last week.

Small classes, comparable pay scales, and pleasant conditions will be inducements to overcome the lack of public transportation and housing facilities, the speakers agreed.

"Our district is already bumping the ceiling of the $1.12½ tax rate," commented W. H. Billy Spears, president of the Prospect Heights board of education and also of the association. He went on to say the only way to finance increased salary schedules would be to persuade the legislature to raise the legal limit to $1.25 or higher.

Statistics indicated that there is a real shortage of elementary school teachers throughout the nation, and more especially teachers for the primary grades. In Illinois last year, there were 1576 teachers trained to fill 4200 jobs. Private industry is bidding high for the men, and the army takes a percentage. Downstate salaries equal those in the Chicago area, and living conditions are cheaper.

The Arlington high school board and boards of elementary schools in the high school district comprise the association. Most of these elementary schools are remote from public transportation, it was pointed out, so a prospective teacher must have a car to accept a position. Paying mileage for use of a car would help, it was suggested.

The question was posed as to whether the community or civic agencies should help make it possible for teachers to find a place to live. "Is the community interested in securing enough good teachers to make our community attractive to them?" it was asked.

The high school is not yet faced with the teacher shortage problem, R. M. Conrad said, but expects the post war increase to catch up with them in four or five years.

L. R. Murphy, superintendent at Mount Prospect, led the panel. Other speakers were John Tomko, Wheeling superintendent, Robert Winkle, Elk Grove superintendent, R. M. Conrad, high school curriculum director, and Raymond Etherton, assistant county superintendent of schools.

A survey that included 12 schools in this immediate area revealed that next year there would be a demand for 108 additional new teachers and a possible 78 additional to take care of the average "turn-over." This means that 186 additional teachers will be needed by these schools next September.

William A. Lewis of 904 S. Elmhurst ave., Mount Prospect, has returned from New York, where he participated in the program of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers' Winter General Meeting.

THE TEACHING OF READING

by FLORENCE WHITE

Throughout the morning of the day of released time on January 26, Mrs. Roma Hiatt, educational consultant for the Scott-Foresman company, led the thinking of the first through fifth grade teachers of the Arlington Heights public schools regarding the reading program. As a result, the teachers returned to their classrooms with new and refreshed insight both into the reading process and into the ways of teaching reading.

The reading process involves word recognition, giving meaning to these words, comprehension of the selection and evaluation and interpretation of the material read. Mrs. Hiatt says interpretation is at the heart of reading.

MRS. HIATT outlined three essential steps in teaching reading. The first step is preparation for reading. The children may discuss what they already know about the subject, they may study related pictures, or they may hear similar stories. Before the pupils begin to read, the vocabulary should be presented and the children should become familiar with the meaning that it has in the new story. When a specific purpose for reading the selection has been complete.

The second step is reading from the book. Silent reading, directed by questions and comments, is followed by interpretive oral reading and by discussion. During the discussion the children may evaluate ideas, make inferences and relate what they have read to their own experiences.

THE THIRD STEP is to promote the development of essential reading skills. Words which caused difficulty in reading from the book should be analyzed, techniques for word recognition should be studied, and many other abilities, such as arranging events in sequence and finding the central idea, should be developed.

Mrs. Hiatt emphasized the fact that reading orally, unless the pupil is familiar with what he is reading, can become simply word-calling and will be of little or no value. Effective oral reading, even in the primary grades, is only done where there is real "audience situation." She stressed the fact that children profit very little from attempting to "watch the place" while another child reads. She favored, instead, word drills and the teaching of phonics and other means of recognizing words and attaching new words.

Teachers 'Visit' While Students Enjoy Holiday

Students of Arlington Heights high school will have a two-day holiday next week as a result of scheduling the faculty's visiting day on Friday immediately after Lincoln's birthday.

The visiting day is a part of the school's in-service training program for faculty members. Most of the faculty members have selected schools to visit on the basis of outstanding programs or outstanding teachers in their own fields.

Thirty-eight schools have been selected for visits, with New Trier and Evanston high schools the most popular choices. Six teachers will go to each of these schools. Approximately half of the faculty will visit two different schools during the day.

Most of the schools selected are in the Chicago area, but a few teachers will take advantage of the holiday and week-end to visit schools at some distance from Arlington Heights. Among these are the university and public high schools at Champaign, Central high school at Madison, Wis., and the Freeport junior and senior high schools.

Look what's worrying the low-priced three!

THERE'S a big story in the price of this beauty—but an even bigger one in what you get for that price.

You get the highest horsepower and compression ratio ever engineered into this Buick Series—from the extra-thrifty F-263 Fireball 8 Engine newly designed for this Golden Anniversary SPECIAL.

You get an even wider front seat than this roomy Buick had before—plus a new tilt-away feature that means easier in-and-out.

You get real big-car comfort, from deep, soft cushions with new zigzag type springs in both the seats and the backs.

You get the steady going and the sweet handling ease that come of a still finer Million Dollar Ride. Steering ratio is increased. Front wheels have been brought to zero-caster. And here, of course, you get coil springs on each wheel, full-length torque-tube drive, rigid and massive X-braced frame—ride features you get in no other car at the price.

But—you get the idea.

And when you realize that the figure on this big, brawny, beautiful Buick SPECIAL is just a few dollars more than you'll pay for one of the so-called "low-priced three"—we're sure you'll say: "This is for me!"

Come in and try it out—then tell us if we're wrong or right.

Audition For High School Talent Show

George Keithley, senior, and Bob Ellis, junior, have been chosen by the talent show committee to act as masters of ceremonies for the annual talent show at Arlington Heights high school, which will be presented March 20 and 21.

Forty acts have signed up for tryouts, which are being held this week. Approximately 20 acts will be selected to participate in the show. These will be selected by judges who have not yet been named.

"Circus Circles" this year's theme will be directed by Nita Glow, senior, with Bob Pearson, senior, and Violet Jeffery, junior, co-directors. Stan Meyer, senior, has charge of publicity. Tony Raef, junior, and Ada Kilbury, sophomore, will design and procure programs.

Barbara Hillyer, senior, is chairman of the talent show committee, which includes the director, co-directors, publicity chairman, program committee. Lenaye Gabel, junior, Hazel Beverly, dean of girls, and Clifford Gallant, language instructor.

Need Names, Not Numbers On Rural Mail Boxes

"The name must appear on the box, but according to Sec. 52.89 (d) P.L.&R., the number shall not be inscribed upon the box."

Thus did Mrs. Virginia F. Dodge, postmaster for Arlington Heights, correct Paddock Publications for publishing the article last week about lack of identification on rural mail boxes. The name will still help carriers, but the number must not be inscribed.

THE STORY HOUR!

Will you please tell me a story? How children love to listen to someone read a story; old or new, it makes no difference to them. Beginning Saturday, Feb. 7, at 10 a.m., the first to third graders will meet at the library, in the memorial room, for the first in a series of story-telling hours. There will be stories from the very newest books received weekly at the library, and also stories that are loved by children down through the years.

Each session will last 45 minutes, and children are reminded to be here promptly as the doors to the reading room will close at 10 a.m. In order not to interrupt the story-telling no one will be admitted after that hour. To avoid disappointments plan to be here a few minutes early.

FIVE NEW BOOKS have been added to the fascinating "Real Book Series"—especially interesting to boys the ages of 9 to 14. The following new titles are now on the book shelves in the children's room at the library: "Indians," "Camping," "Ships," "Rivers," "Spies."

New books on the rental shelves:

Few writers can match the quiet dignity of Miss Sackville-West's prose or the maturity of her understanding. In "The Easter Party" she fashions her characters into extreme patterns and blends cynicism, love, and tenderness into a smooth story, again earning recognition as one of England's greatest authors.

"The Blue Fox" by Ronald Duncan. Rarely do the qualities of farmer and poet combine to herald for the concrete-bound city dweller the joys and hardships of rural living. Ronald Duncan, a farmer "down to earth and mud on his boots," blends a laconic wit with the sensibilities of a poet.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Sunday might well be called children's day in Arlington Heights because that's when that special treat in their honor, the annual children's play of the Village Theatre, will be presented.

The play is Charlotte Chorpenning's "Jack and the Bean Stalk," incorporating all the action and excitement of the fairy tale. It tells the traditional story of the poor boy who cannot bear to sell his beloved cow to the wicked-rich-man, and instead sells it to a magician for some magical beans. The beans, of course, grow into a tremendous beanstalk reaching clear up to the House of the Giant.

The play incorporates all the make-believe loved by the youngsters—the hen that lays the golden eggs, the harp that does its master's bidding, the Man in the Moon, etc.

This year the children's play is being presented in the girls' gym at the high school, and, for the first time, there will be room for all the children—and adults—who wish to attend. In the past, limited seating capacity has made it necessary to turn some boys and girls away. Plans have been made by several organizations and individuals to bring groups ranging from 25 to 100.

There will be two performances of "Jack and the Beanstalk," one at 2 p.m. and the other at 4, with tickets priced at 25 cents for either adults or children.

Mrs. Robert Hawley is directing the play; Maurice Geye is design technician, and Mrs. Robert Hutchinson, production manager.

The Winnah!

Patricia Nolan, seventh grader at the Junior high and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nolan, was a mighty thrilled young lady Monday night when she won the County public and Chicago parochial spelling contest. Pat had previously come in second at a competition for boys and girls from schools in this area.

Early in the contest — which began with 36 entrants — Pat made an educated guess on the word "garrison" and, much to her own surprise, spelled it correctly. From there on she didn't have too much trouble.

When she and Raymond Deutsch of a Chicago parochial school were the only two contestants left, both missed the word "effulgence," and thus both remained in the bee. He finally misspelled "autonomous." Pat got it correctly, and then proceeded to spell "cudgel."

Prize for Pat was a long and short wave radio, and, more important, a trip to Washington, D. C., this spring to compete in the national finals. The Junior high, being the school of the winner, receives a series of Encyclopedia Brittanica films.

Bob Siegel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Siegel, the other entrant from this area, was spelled down on the word "treatise" after half the other contestants were eliminated.

Another touch with local conotations was the appearance of Miss Lucy Driscoll, former Junior high math teacher here and now an assistant county superintendent of schools, as a judge.

Church Services, Window Displays To Highlight Boy Scout Week

by JIM REDWANZ

During the coming week, February 7-13, some 3,250,000 Cub, Boy and Explorer Scouts and adult leaders will celebrate the forty-third birthday of their organization.

IN THE BLACKHAWK district (Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights) of the Northwest Suburban council, scouts are going to take part in many celebrations designed to enrich the minds of themselves, their leaders, parents and friends.

Most churches in the Blackhawk district will have "Boy Scout Sunday" services in connection with the regular worship services. For example, the Presbyterians will have Scout services honoring troop 32 and the Methodists will have a service for troop 7.

Local businessmen have been gracious enough to allow Scouts to use their windows during Scout Week. Troop 7 and post 707, will have a dual display in the window of Landmeier's Hardware store. Troop 32 intends to have a display, but its location was not known at this writing.

The public is urged to view the Scout windows and to accompany their children to the special Scout services at church this Sunday.

THE THEME of the celebration, which will be observed by 84,300 Cub packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units throughout the United States, its territories and wherever American families live abroad, is "Forward on Liberty's Team." This is the name of the Scouts' three year program, which seeks to produce a greater functioning manpower and provide a higher quality program for its ever-increasing boy membership.

Boy Scout Week celebrations this year will stress "The Scout Family" depicting how parents and others of the family often have a relationship to the scout program. At "Open House" evening meetings scouts will introduce members of their family to their fellow scouts. At these meetings tribute will be paid to the American home, and its influence on the lives of boys and its place in a free society.

World Day Of Prayer

Women representatives from nine Protestant churches in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights and Wheeling met recently to plan for the observance of the World Day of Prayer, February 20.

Protestant women from churches in these communities will gather at the First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights, the morning of that day to hear a review of the book "Wrought By Prayer" and to have a session of prayer together for the particular projects presented in the book. This study will be led by Mesdames Charles Kule, Dean Currier, Charles Rawson and E. H. Jannsen.

Following the study a pot luck luncheon will be served in the church dining room.

REV. JOHN B. Hubbard of Park Ridge will deliver the World Day of Prayer sermon, which will begin at 1:30 p.m. The topic, which will be the same one used by thousands of Christians around the world, is "Walk As Children Of Light." Father Hubbard, who is well known in the northwest area, is pastor of St. Mary Episcopal church.

Churches cooperating in this service are: Arlington Heights—St. John Evangelical and Reformed, First Methodist, Evangelical Free, and First Presbyterian; Mount Prospect—Community church, St. John Episcopal; Prospect Heights—Community church; Wheeling—Community Presbyterian.

Representatives of the various cooperating denominations will participate in the service, which will be led by Mrs. Robert Baron, president of the Woman's association of the First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Robert Klepper, Prospect Heights, will be soloist and Mrs. Richard Lull, Arlington Heights, organist. (ACM

Diversified Vocational Education Outlined To Prospective Employers

Prospective employers of juniors and seniors of Arlington Heights high school who will participate in the proposed diversified vocational program to be initiated next fall, learned Monday evening facts regarding its operation from Walter J. Bartz of the state vocational department.

Following dinner in the cafeteria, the representatives of local plants and members of the board of education listened to Mr. Bartz. Representatives present signified their willingness to participate as trainers of the boys and possibly girls who will attend school in the morning and learn a trade in their respective plants during the afternoon.

The program will start next September. A coordinator will oversee their work in school which in each case will tie in with the particular work they are performing in their employment.

High school credit toward graduation will be given for their shop work as well as school instruction.

High School Pupils Donate $427 To March of Dimes

Students of Arlington Heights high school contributed $427.92 to the March of Dimes in their homeroom meetings last Friday.

Every senior homeroom and all but two sophomore homerooms reported contributions by 100% of their members. The highest contribution was that of Curtis Larsen's sophomore group, Room 113.

Other homerooms turning in $10 or more were those of Reuben Conrad, Ellen Courtney, Clifford Gallant, Alvin Kulieke, June Leick, Alma Leonhard, Edith Lindsey, Sylvia Paulson, Jane Mahin, Leta McMillan, Carl Nelson, Ethel Riordan, Donna Marie Volz.

The Fueure Farmers of America swelled the total with an additional contribution of $10 from the club.

John W. Busse, Honored After 25 Years Service At First National Bank

John W. Busse, 302 W. Vine ave., Arlington Heights, was the recipient of a gold watch this week, presented to him by his co-workers of the First National Bank, of Chicago. He will also be a guest at the annual dinner of the Quarter Century Club to be held in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House February 13.

John is the son of August Busse, Algonquin and Arlington Heights road, Elk Grove. He spent thirty months in service during World War II. His entire business career has been with the First National Bank. He is the treasurer of St. Peter church.

'Prepare For Lawn Cutting,' Says Elroy Winkelman

Elroy Winkelman has found that the open winter has kept his bike department rather busy, and he anticipates that when spring actually arrives he is going to be swamped with both bikes and lawn mower repairs. He is asking this paper to pass on the suggestion to all who use lawn mowers that it is a wise man who gets his mower in proper shape for lawn cutting right now.

"While you are making the suggestion" said Winkelman, "tell the people that Winkelman will gladly pick up machines, clean, adjust and sharpen and return them. A phone call is all that is necessary."

A new store full of new ideas — yes, The Squire Shop has been completely remodeled and is open for business now. Although there are still a few more things to do, the store now has an entirely different decor. Tables have been replaced by several display cases and clothing racks line one wall and shelves the other. And don't forget him on Valentine's day. Jim Monroe, the proprietor, suggests a nice neat sport shirt, bow ties, costume jewelry or a belt chosen from their new selection. The Squire Shop is located on Northwest hwy. as you approach Palatine.

Women's Study Groups To Meet

The international relations study group of the Arlington Heights Woman's club will meet at the home of Mrs. Leroy Knoeppel, 616 N. Ridge ave., February 9 at 1:30 p.m. to hear Miss Molly Imlach tell about "The British Picture Today."

Miss Imlach was born and educated in England and first visited the United States in 1949 as an exchange teacher. She enjoyed the experience so much that when opportunity presented itself to work for British Information Services in Chicago she accepted with alacrity.

Having worked on both sides of the Atlantic in the field of education, Miss Imlach understands something of the inaccuracies of thought in each country concerning the other.

As officer in charge of speakers and publications, she feels she has a great challenge to meet in presenting the British viewpoint to the American people—not so that the resulting thinking should be similar, but that it should at least respect and understand the other's point of view.

Co-hostesses for this meeting are Mrs. Richard Bronwell and Mrs. M. C. Haase.

The music study group of the Woman's club will meet February 11 at 1:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Albert C. Peters, 403 N. Belmont ave. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Purvis and Mrs. Richard Bronwell.

"Easter Music From Other Countries" will be presented by the popular soprano, Mrs. Frank C. Carr. Mrs. Carr is a graduate of the Music Conservatory of Lawrence college and studied under Forrest Lamont. She is well known as a featured soloist in oratorios and concert programs and has been solo artist on a number of radio programs.

Mrs. Richard Lull, who is equally well known for her musical prowess, will accompany Mrs. Carr.

Because these two popular study groups are usually well attended, club members are requested to notify the hostesses of their intention to attend. Mrs. Knoeppel may be reached at CL 3-0462; Mrs. Peters at CL 3-2000.

Federated Woman's Auxiliary Luncheon

The Federated Woman's auxiliary of St. John Episcopal church, Mount Prospect, will hold a luncheon at the Tally-Ho in Park Ridge, at noon February 12. A brief business session will follow the luncheon.

Tickets are $1.75 each. Cards for reservations are being mailed to all members, and all who wish to attend are urged to return the cards to Mrs. W. Nicholas Kruse by February 7.

Mrs. Richard E. Lambert, former vice-president of the auxiliary, is now president, following the resignation of Mrs. F. Walter Weiser. (AM

Women's Guild Benefit Tea

Mrs. John A. Beverley, 5. S. Owen st., Mount Prospect, wishes to invite all friends of Lawrence Hall in this area to come to a benefit tea sponsored by the Women's guild of St. Mary Episcopal church, Park Ridge.

Tea will be served in the parish hall of St. Mary's February 11 from 2 to 4 p.m. Rev. Don Curzon, director of Lawrence Hall, will be present.

Mrs. R. A. Schiller, Mount Prospect, is president of the Woman's Board of this institution, and Mrs. John A. Beverley is the board representative from the Evening guild of St. John Episcopal church, Mount Prospect.

This occasion is for the benefit of the "This and That Shop" in Chicago. Proceeds of this shop are used for the support of Lawrence Hall, Church Mission of Help, and St. Mary's Home for Girls. Guests are asked to bring as a donation some article of clothing, jewelry, or bric-a-brac for re-sale in the shop. (AM

Missionaries To Address Church Group

The Friendly circle of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church of Arlington Heights will have as their guests at their February 10 meeting Mr. and Mrs. John Obermaier, missionaries.

The meeting will be held at the church beginning at 7:45 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Obermaier, members of the First English Evangelical and Reformed church, Chicago, have traveled to various mission fields and have taken their own pictures of the work.

They will present an illustrated lecture on Honduras at this meeting. Their daughter and her family plan to leave soon to work as missionaries in Honduras.

OES News

Arlington Heights chapter 992, Order of the Eastern Star, installed Albert Roderick of Mt. Prospect, the newly elected associate patron, in office at their January 22 meeting. Francis Arnold was also installed as Esther.

Members enjoyed a towel walk and refreshments after the meeting.

Officers met for a practice meeting at the Presbyterian hall February 2.

The February 12 meeting will feature a Valentine party following the business meeting. Meetings are held at the Presbyterian hall at 7:30 p. m.

The worthy matron, Gertrude Schroeder of Barrington, served in the East at Edison Park chapter. Many officers and members of the chapter escorted the worthy matron and enjoyed a "Friend's Night" there February 2. (AM

Des Plaines Chapter, Women Of The Moose

Des Plaines chapter 835, Women of the Moose, will hold its business meeting February 12 at Moose hall. Candidates names should be turned in before the meeting.

There will be a get-together at the hall February 7. Music will be provided and refreshments, served.

The Women of the Moose will sponsor a Valentine dance February 14 at the hall. Refreshments will be served. (B4

Newcomers Plan Pot Luck Supper

Members of the Newcomers' club of Arlington Heights and their husbands will get-together for a pot luck supper February 18 at 6:30 p.m. at the field house. Women, whose husbands are unable to attend, are also invited.

Following the supper an evening of square dancing is planned. The club asks a donation of 50 cents per person.

Any newcomer wishing to attend this get-together may consider this an invitation and is asked to call either hostess, Mrs. Jack Anderson, CL 3-2024, or Mrs. John Auld. CL 3-1747.

Holy Name Men To Get Lowdown On State Crime

Robert C. Eardley, former first assistant attorney general of the State of Illinois, will address the men of St. James parish, Arlington Heights, at a meeting of the Holy Name society February 10 in the school hall.

A business meeting will precede the address and refreshments will follow.

Mr. Eardley, graduate of the University of Michigan and the Northwestern university law school, will speak on "Outstanding Criminal Cases In Illinois." His past experience with the Illinois attorney general's office and as Assistant United States Attorney makes him well qualified to speak on this subject. His audience should find his talk most interesting in view of today's headlines in the daily papers.

James B. Murphy, president of the Holy Name society, urges all men of the parish to attend. Newcomers should come and get acquainted.

Rev. George Stier, pastor and chaplain of the society, points out that Sunday, Feb. 8, is Communion Sunday for the society. The men will receive communion in a body at the 8:30 a.m. mass.

Presbyterians To Observe Youth Sunday

The Youth of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will take over the service of worship February 8. It has been the custom of the church to observe Youth Sunday on the day set aside as National Boy Scout Sunday and to invite all the scout troops meeting in the church to attend the service as a group.

The Christian flag, American flag, and the troop flag of the boy scouts will lead the processional of Junior and Boys' choirs and the various scout and brownie troops.

Participating in the service of worship will be Bob Pearson, presiding, Adrienne Double leading the responsive reading, Bert Goldthwaite reading the Scripture lesson, and Dick Riley leading in prayer. For the sermon Patricia Sim will speak of the content of the Christian faith, Jim Thomson will tell how to acquire a Christian faith, and Mary Kingsley will share ways of putting the Christian faith into action. The theme for Youth Sunday is "Strive to Know — Dare to Believe."

The Junior and Boys' choirs will sing "I Would Be True" by Peek. These choirs are made up of students in fourth, fifth, and sixth grade of the Sunday church school. The Youth choir, girls in the seventh and eighth grades, will sing as an offertory, "That Cause Can Neither Be Lost Nor Stayed" by Nellemann.

Ushers for the morning will be boys from the Senior high department of the church school and Senior Tuxis. They are Kenneth Baker, Joe Campbell, Bill Gregory, Dennis Hackbarth, Ronald Harth, Pete Holloway, Don Niemeyer and Peter Swanson. The head usher will be Laurence K. Smith, member of the Men's club of the church.

Girl Scout Council Meets Friday Afternoon

District four of the Girl Scout Council of Northwest Cook county will hold its first meeting February 6 at 1 p. m. at the field house in Arlington Heights. The announcement was made by District Four chairman, Mrs. H. E. Johnson.

The purpose of this meeting is to lay the groundwork for the new neighborhood organizations. The various officers of the district will be elected at this first meeting.

Every adult registered in Girl Scouts of the United States of America from Arlington Heights, Palatine, Prospect Heights, and Mt. Prospect is urged to attend.

A baby sitter will be furnished to take care of the children. (B4

Ladies' Society Holds Review of 'Grant'

The Ladies' Society of Faith Lutheran church, Arlington Hts., will feature a book review by Mrs. E. J. Hoppe at their meeting February 11. The group will meet at 8 p. m. at the parish hall.

Mrs. Hoppe will review "Giant" by Edna Ferber, and refreshments will be served.

The cotton fabric is water-resistant and wind-resistant, the National Cotton Council reports.

Mark Sixtieth Anniversary

At an open house Saturday and Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anetsberger of 825 N. Beverley lane, Arlington Heights, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

The Anetsbergers were married in Fifield, Wis., and moved to Chicago in 1927. They have been residents of Arlington Hts. since 1944.

They have 11 children, Louis of Buffalo, N. Y.; Frank, Joseph, George and Fred, all of Northbrook; Bill, Cumberland; Andrew, Chicago; John, who will soon move to Arlington Heights; Mrs. Rose Baier, Arlington Hts.; Mrs. Helen Sterner, Chicago, and Mrs. Jerry Colleng, Northbrook. They also have 38 grandchildren, and 22 great grandchildren.

Local Group To Give Version Of TV Show

Local talent will present their version of the popular TV show, "What's My Line," at the February 13 meeting of the Mr. and Mrs. Club of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights. The group will meet at the church at 6:45 p. m.

Following the potluck supper, there will be a short business meeting after which local talent will display their ability to identify the unusual occupations of several people.

All members and their guests are urged to be present.

Community Club Party

The Community club of the Wilson school district will hold a party at the school February 7 at 8 p. m.

Donations will be $1, and proceeds will be used for the school.

Brotherhood To Be Theme Of WSCS

In accordance with their theme for the month, "Brotherhood Lights The Way," the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights will have as their guest speaker at their February 10 meeting Dr. Edward G. Olsen, education director, Chicago office, National Conference of Christians and Jews.

The meeting will begin at 1 p. m. with a luncheon at the church. Members of Bluloa circle will serve. Mrs. James Kuykendall is chairman, Mrs. Walter Dill, hospitality chairman, and Mrs. George Vitoux, decoration chairman, of this circle.

Donation for the luncheon will be 50 cents. For reservations call the circle chairmen or the church office before February 6.

Mrs. Charles Kule will give the devotions.

Dr. Olsen joined the staff of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in August 1951 as Chicago education director. He came here from the University of Texas, where he served as associate professor of educational administration.

Before that he was, for five years, the director of school and community relations in the Washington State Office of Public Instruction, Olympia, Wash. There he served also as executive secretary of the Washington State Council for UNESCO, and as a member of the board of managers of the State Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Dr. Olsen has published two widely used textbooks, and has been on the faculty of Colgate university and Russell Sage college. He has had summer appointments at Georgia State Teachers college, the University of Washington, College of William and Mary and the Philadelphia Teachers workshop.

Youth Groups To Show Film 'God Of Creation'

The Junior and Senior Tuxis of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will present a special program for the entire church congregation and friends at 7:30 p.m. February 8.

Highlight of the program will be the movie, "God of Creation," a sound film explaining in an interesting, easy-to-understand language, the marvels of the sky and living things.

Lapse time photography shows buds becoming full-blown blossoms in a few seconds. The movie delves into the mysteries of life itself and illustrates the power and wisdom of God in creation.

Members of Junior Tuxis, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bowen, will introduce the film and present the program. Members of Senior Tuxis, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett, are in charge of setting up for the program. An invitation is extended to the entire community.

Nurse's Club To Improve Services

Mrs. Albert Peters of the Arlington Heights Nurses' club announced this week that plans have been drawn and work will start soon on the cupboards which will contain articles of the lending closet.

This will release several tables which the library has been kind enough to let the Nurses' club use, but which are not adequate for storing the sick-room equipment.

When the cupboards are finished, the appearance of the room will be improved and the handling of the lending closet articles, greatly facilitated.

Sponsor Tour

The Marcella club of St. James Catholic church, Arlington Heights, is sponsoring a tour of the Croydon China Co., Touhy and Lincoln aves., February 12. The group will leave at 1:15 p. m. from the church.

Those in need of transportation are asked to contact Mrs. Charles Misek at Cl. 3-9297 or any member of the club.

Clipper Ships, Purple Cows At Hobby Show

Everything from scale model air planes, trains, operating railroads, and cows are being displayed by the Model Industry Association at its National Trade Show and Convention at the Hotel Morrison, Chicago. More than 20,000 individual items are being shown by the men and women who make and sell a variety of such things as model railroads, model airplanes, leather and flowercraft kits, figurines, and model antique cars.

When the five day MIA Trade show ends February 5, the public will be admitted for three days (February 6-7-8), according to W. W. Caddell, president of the Chicagoland Model Hobby Association, who will sponsor the event for the public.

More than 1,000 manufacturers, wholesalers, and hobby shop owners have come from over the nation—and from as far away as Hawaii—for the biggest annual affair in the $68,000,000 hobby trade. Local members of the hobby industry are participating.

The "Hobby Lobby" will bring the new hobby materials and kits that will help determine the nation's hobby habits for the 1953-4 season.

Wood fibre from Chiang Kai Chek's island fortress of Formosa will be flown in from California ports. The rare material is used in making the most realistic appearing flowers in history.

The Hotel Morrison affair marks the hobby trade's 13th trade show and convention in Chicago, and setting a precedent for future years, the Model Industry Association has been giving hobby kits to model minded Cub, Boy and Girl Scouts, youth clubs, and hospitals over the Chicago area. (B4

Rita Herr Becomes Bride Of Lee Hennig

St. Theresa Catholic church, Palatine, was the scene January 24 of the wedding of Miss Rita Marie Herr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Herr of 122 W. Wood st., Palatine, and Lee Hennig of Huntley, son of Mrs. Esther Hennig of Hampshire.

Rev. Arthur O'Brien officiated at the double ring ceremony held at 10 a.m. Bouquets of carnations and snapdragons formed the setting for the wedding, and Mrs. Ann Schmidt, soloist at the nuptial high mass, was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. John Prosser. At the conclusion of the mass the bride placed a small bouquet of flowers at the side altar while the organist played "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, a peplum of chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls and a long train. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a Juliet cap, which was also trimmed with seed pearls. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white orchids surrounded by white carnations.

Miss Corletta Herr of Chicago, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a coral gown and carried a bouquet of periwinkle blue carnations.

Miss Marilyn Vogt and Miss Marie Homier, both of Palatine, were the bridesmaids. Miss Kathleen Herr of Chicago, cousin of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid, and Miss Janet Herr of Chicago, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. All these attendants wore ice blue gowns. The bridesmaids carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and the flower girl carried a basket of sweetheart roses.

Alvin Hennig of Hampshire, brither of the groom, was best man. George Finzel and Lyle Koppen, both of Huntley, Clarence of Niles, brother of the bride, and Duane Goeshert of Hampshire, brother-in-law of the groom, were the ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Herr wore blue suit, and at the reception she wore a gown of navy blue chantilly lace over taffeta with a corsage of pink and white carnations. The mother of the groom wore a navy blue suit and a corsage of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Joseph Herr Sr. of Chicago, grandmother of the bride, wore a black crepe dress and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The bride's godmother, Mrs. Mary Ann Waznik of Palatine, was also present. She also had a corsage of pink and white carnations.

A reception for 300 guests was held at Fred's Place on Rand rd.

Following a three-week honeymoon in Florida, the couple will make their home in Huntley.

The bride was graduated from Palatine high school in 1951 and also attended DePaul university, Chicago, for one year. The groom was graduated from high school at Hampshire in 1948.

Out-of-town guests were from Huntley, Hampshire, Elgin, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Poplar Grove, Crystal Lake and Beverley Hills. Bak photo

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

A unique and savory vegetable dish, Barbecued Lima Beans, is featured as our recipe selection of the week.

Mrs. John Heidemann of 208 S. Haddow, Arlington Heights, is the contributor of this flavorful and unusual casserole.

Simple to prepare, the dish is made by soaking dry limas overnight and then cooking them the next day. The beans are then combined with a tangy mixture of catsup and white Karo syrup, placed in a casserole, topped with bacon slices and then baked.

Mrs. Heidemann suggests serving Barbecued Lima Beans with baked ham and a molded jello salad. It is an excellent dish for potluck supper.

Active in the VFW Auxiliary and the St. Peter Mothers' club, Mrs. Heidemann also works part-time at the Lorraine-Anne Shop. The Heidemanns have a daughter, Mary Lou, who is nine years old and in the fourth grade at St. Peter school.

Barbecued Lima Beans

1 lb. dry lima beans
½ bottle catsup
1/3 cup white Karo syrup
Bacon slices

Soak the dry lima beans overnight in water. Drain.

Cover the beans with fresh water and cook until soft. Drain off water and add the catsup and white Karo syrup. Mix together with the beans.

Place the mixture in a casserole and lay slices of bacon on the top. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, one-half hour, or until bacon is brown. Serve while hot.

Form Girl Scout Council In Northwest Cook County

The Girl Scout Council of Northwest Cook County was formally organized January 29. More than 200 adults registered in Girl Scouts of the United States of America from Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Park Ridge, Prospect Heights and Skokie attended the first meeting at the Congregational church, Des Plaines.

This meeting culminated two years of intensive work by the steering committee, representatives of the former local councils. Formal business of the evening, conducted by the chairman, Mrs. David Zimmerman of Arlington Heights, consisted of the adoption of the constitution and by-laws, approval of the budget, and the election of officers.

Mrs. Leonard Davidow, chairman of the regional committee of Region VII, chose "The Challenge of This New Relationship" as her topic, clearly indicating the hurdles which a new organization encompassing such a large area must overcome.

Mrs. Willard Osborne, executive director of the council, discussed "Our Immediate Future." She told the group about many plans to be carried out in the months ahead. She explained the training courses which will be offered to troop leaders and the various committee members.

Following is a list of the members of the board of directors elected at the meeting and the communities in which they reside: Mrs. David Zimmerman, Arlington Heights, president; Mrs. H. G. Mackintosh, Skokie, first vice-president; Mrs. C. A. Genske, Des Plaines, second vice-president; Mrs. Walter O. Leitherer, Skokie, third vice-president; Mrs. S. Disbrow, Des Plaines, secretary; R. W. Garbe, Park Ridge, treasurer.

Mrs. W. H. Lannert, Skokie, district I chairman; Mrs. Albert J. Andrews, Park Ridge, district II; Mrs. Louis F. Stuebe, Des Plaines, district III; Mrs. H. E. Johnson, Mt. Prospect, district IV; Mrs. M. A. Marks, Skokie, troop organization; Mrs. H. C. Lawson, Park Ridge, training; Mrs. Louis P. Schulz, Skokie, program; Mrs. Wynn Howard, Des Plaines, camp; Mrs. Bruce L. Corbett, Prospect Heights, public relations; R. A. Franzen, Arlington Heights, finance; Mrs. Gale Lee Smith, Arlington Hts., staff and office; Mrs. B. H. Bohrer, Prospect Heights, council meetings.

Mrs. T. B. Hofmann, Park Ridge, Mrs. J. B. Gobbs, Des Plaines, Mrs. R. Morrow, Palatine, Mrs. Sam Ricketts, Skokie, Mrs. C. A. Perlin, Park Ridge, Mrs. K. E. Holmes, Des Plaines and Mrs. Carleton Palmer, Mt. Prospect, membership-nominating committee.

The chairman of the membership-nominating committee will be chosen at the first meeting of the committee. The professional staff includes Mrs. Willard Osborne, executive director, and Miss Marion Hodgins, director of Camp Hickory Hill, Lake ave. woods section.

Miss Marion Hodgins, director of Girl Scout Camp Hickory Hill, was formally introduced to the group. Senior Girl Scouts from the area capably served as color bearers, ushers, and assisted in the election. (B4

Stork Feathers

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bliss of 417 N. Dryden, Arlington Hts., are parents of a son, Mark, born January 26 at St. Francis hospital, Evanston, weighing 6 lbs, 4 ounces. He has a brother, Jimmy, 9, and a sister, Sue, 6. Rev. and Mrs. William Bliss of Lincoln, Neb., and Mrs. Lena Smith of Arlington Heights are the grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Page of Austin, Texas, announce the birth of a son, George William, January 27. The baby weighed 8 lbs. 6 ounces. He has two sisters, Paula, 3, and Cora Jean, 2. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harvel of Arlington Heights and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Page of Austin, Texas, former residents of Arlington Heights.

Parents of their first child, a son, Craig Alan, are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wente of Quintens rd., Palatine. The baby was born January 27 at Sherman hospital, Elgin, weighing 9 lbs. 7 ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goebbert of Arlington Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wente of Palatine are the grandparents.

Charles Smith Takes Nancy Taylor As Bride

In a recent double ring ceremony Miss Nancy Irene Taylor became the bride of Charles Mettler Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Smith of Inverness Countryside, Palatine. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor of Detroit, Mich.

The bride wore a traditional gown of white satin and lace fashioned with an overskirt of nylon net. Her fingertip veil of nylon net was held in place by a small white satin cloche trimmed with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and trailing ivy with a white orchid center.

Miss Sharon Taylor, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and she wore fuchsia a ballerina length gown of taffeta and lace. The groom's sister, Monnet, served as the bridesmaid and her gown matched that of the maid of honor. The bride's younger sister, Marianne, was the junior bridesmaid, and she wore an irridescent green taffeta gown. All the attendants carried bouquets of white and fuchsia mums with trailing ivy.

Tom Smith, brother of the groom, was best man, and William Van Hoff of Detroit, Mich., and Robert Quinn of Grand Rapid Mich., were the ushers.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony.

The bride's mother wore a plum colored velvet dress with beige accessories and an orchid corsage, the groom's mother wore a navy blue taffeta dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mettler and Mrs. Charles B. Smith, all of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Smith of Arlington Heights, aunt and uncle of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are making their home in Ann Arbor, while he finishes law school. Mrs. Smith is teaching elementary school there.

Tell Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. F. Walter Weiser of 1021 N. Illinois ave., Arlington Heights, announce the engagement of their daughter, Constance, to Robert Bilbrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Bilbrey of Chicago.

Miss Weiser was graduated from Purdue university, where she was a member of Phi Beta Phi social sorority. Mr. Bilbrey will graduate from Purdue university in June. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, and Phi Sigma Kappa.

Park Ridge Girls' School Sends Valentine Appeal

Valentines will soon be mailed to residents of the greater Chicago area carrying an appeal from the Park Ridge School for Girls. The proceeds will be invested in the welfare of teenage girls from all over the state of Illinois.

An Auxiliary of the school was formed recently in Arlington Heights under the leadership of Mrs. William H. Ball. The group will meet Thursday, February 5, at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Kemp Blackwell, 518 S. Dryden pl.

The Park Ridge School for Girls was founded in 1877. Its purpose is to provide a home and education for girls who need care because of their unfortunate backgrounds for reasons which may be economic, social or educational. Admission to the school is made on the recommendation of the courts, social agencies or parents.

These adolescent girls, whose ages range from 11 to 18, are housed on a 40-acre campus where they live in cottages under the guidance of housemothers whose aim is to give them the chance that they long for, "to be like other girls."

The school is not only a home, but an accredited school which includes practical courses in cooking, sewing, and typing as well as academic subjects. The girls enjoy a recreational program well planned by a trained director, including bowling, dancing, swimming, movies and church work. Since the school is non-sectarian, the girls attend the church of their own choice and many of them are active in youth fellowship groups.

Park Ridge School for Girls is supported by gifts from individuals, by entertainment sponsored by its directors, and money from metropolitan charity agencies.

Every dollar of the Valentine gifts goes toward operating expenses — to feed, clothe and educate the girls.

Lois Larson, John Kilroy Married In Oklahoma

A quiet, yet impressive ceremony January 16 united in marriage Miss Lois C. Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Larson of Mount Prospect, and John J. Kilroy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kilroy of Des Plaines.

The ceremony was performed by the navy chaplain at the navy base chapel in Norman, Okla., at 7 p.m.

The bride wore a powder blue dress of irridescent taffeta fashioned with a stand-up collar, three-quarter length sleeves and a full skirt. She wore white accessories and carried a prayer book used by her mother and Mrs. Kilroy Sr. at their weddings. The bride carried a white orchid with streamers on top of the prayer book.

The attendants were new friends from Oklahoma.

Following the ceremony members of the wedding party enjoyed dinner together.

The groom is temporarily stationed at Norman, Okla., and the young couple have an apartment there at 402 Webster ave.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from Maine township high school in 1951.

The new Mrs. Kilroy was guest of honor at a surprise personal shower given at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Roy Lawson of Park Ridge, January 12. Twenty-five guests were present.

Hospital Forms Memorial Fund

Living memorials in the form of rooms or equipment will be made available to all donors of $500. or more to the Resurrection hospital completion fund, it was announced today by James O. Burke, chairman of the memorial division. Resurrection hospital is located at 7432 W. Talcott rd., Chicago.

Burke, secretary-treasurer of Standard Coil Products Co., has been named by Resurrection's campaign chairman, Irving T. Gillick, to head a solicitation of individuals and companies in the northwest suburban area.

A resident of Lincolnwood, Burke is a leader in the campaign to raise a minimum of $500,000 to finish construction, equip, and provide operating funds for the new $4,000,000 hospital on Talcott rd. west of Harlem.

Delighted with their visit to Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Presenting The Younger Generation

Anything That Runs

Round-faced, blue-eyed young Douglas Ward is delighted with anything that runs. "Every appliance from the stove on down to the washing machine interests Douglas," laughed Mrs. Ward. TV and radio are especially fascinating.

Douglas is the 16-month-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Ward of 108 E. Euclid ave., Arlington Heights. Grandparents of this young mechanic are Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Sherwin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ward of Warrenville, Ill.

Little Sis

This brown-eyed, dark blond haired little miss is the youngest of three children in the R. S. Clobridge family of 409 Carlyle place, Arlington Heights. She is 22-month-old, Carol Ann.

As most "almost 2-year-olds" Carol Ann is talking quite a bit. She enjoys her parakeet, Tico, and loves her stuffed teddy bear. Playing with her older sister and brother is Carol's favorite pasttime. Big sis is 10-year-old Malinda, a fourth grader at the North school; big brother is 5-year old Steven, a member of the kindergarten also at North school.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Clobridge of Ames, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Winter of Skokie are the grandparents of the children.

And Pretty Maids

. . . all in a row! These little girls, Jacquelyn and Maureen Bowman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bowman of 269 N. Schiller, Palatine, brought this well known line of a nursery rhyme to mind.

Jacquelyn, first in line, is 5 years old. She has light brown hair, blue eyes and is in the kindergarten at the Palatine community school. Maureen is a blond and blue-eyed 3-year-old. "If Jacquelyn has crayon and paper, she is happy," stated Mrs. Bowman, "drawing and coloring being her favorite pasttime." Maureen enjoys dolls, but especially enjoys the "live doll" in the family, 5-month-old brother Tommy. "She entertains him by the hour," explained her mother, "loves to play with him and occasionally plays her accordion for him."

Grandparents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence P. Holden and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Bowman Sr. of Oak Park. Mrs. Mary Sheedy of Oak Park is the great-grandmother.

Home Bureau Unit Receives Blue Ribbon

Mrs. Max Hershey of Arlington Heights, chairman, and 15 members of Wheeling Unit of Cook County Home Bureau attended the twelfth annual meeting of the County Home Bureau January 29 at the First Congregational church, LaGrange.

Wheeling unit was awarded a blue ribbon for sending monthly reports in punctually, paying their dues on time and for sponsoring 4-H clubs. Only four units in the county received this award.

A business meeting and election of officers was held, and Miss Nancy Mees of Arlington Heights talked on 4-H club work. Mrs. Charles T. Caul, members of the staff of the Art Institute of Chicago, gave a lecture on "The Emotional Appeal in Artistic Expression." (B4

Guild To Hold Progressive Dinner Saturday

Members of St. Catherine's guild of St. John's Episcopal church, Mount Prospect, will fete their husbands February 7 at a progressive dinner. Mrs. T. A. Williams is general chairman.

Hostesses will be Mrs. James Good with Mrs. Frank Edmonds and Mrs. Robert Rohner, co-hostesses; Mrs. John Shaw with Mrs. Charles Black, Mrs. William Frost and Mrs. D. S. Grant, co-hostesses, and Mrs. Forrest Blose with Mrs. William Plambeck as co-hostess.

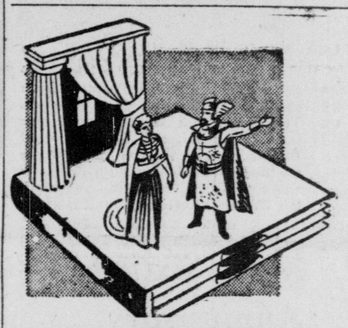
Although decorations will be kept to a minimum the approaching St. Valentine's day will provide the theme of decor. (AM

African Violet Society

The Rose Onna chapter of the First African Violet Society of Chicago will meet at the home of Mrs. Henry Collignon, 722 N. Pine ave., Arlington Heights, at 1 p. m. February 9.

A business meeting will follow the dessert luncheon.

Mrs. Edward Moritz of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Harry Bell will be co-hostesses. (B4



Words & Music

by Erica Floyd

WE DON'T GO MUCH for television!

We've always felt that for downright enjoyment, there's nothing like sitting around the ol' homestead, listening to music on FM, shoes off, left leg curled under us.

There's nothing as relaxing, nothing appreciated as much as coming home, reading the paper, talking to the better half, and then to bed.

SURE WE'VE GOT TV. But we don't let it run our house. It's in the extra room. Some programs we like, some are like waiting for a bus—time wasted.

Then, it's back to the living room and the FM, paper or magazine in hand, orange peels in the ash tray.

Every Friday night is show night at our house. We still enjoy the full length feature at a local movie house, where parking's no problem, where you're just five minutes from home.

NOW WE'VE FOUND a new way to relax. It's seeing a play. Many's the time we've gone downtown to see productions on the legitimate stage. But along with those excursions, including dinners at a total cost of about $20, we had to get our tickets weeks in advance, drive through a rat race at Foster ave. and the like, and pay from $1 up for parking.

That's all been changed now. We go to the Showcase theatre in Evanston.

Drive? It takes no more than a half hour, all on four-lane roads.

Parking? In three excursions we have yet to park farther than a half block away, on the street, without paying a cent.

Tickets? Bought them at the door when we arrived, dollar and a half variety for us, instead of $3.10-$4 as we've paid downtown many a time.

Comfort? Soft seats, satisfying decor, and music—not the Ginsberg type.

AND EVERY PRODUCTION starts on time. We've always felt it was pure habit of late theatergoers to always miss the first ten minutes.

The production? Good, enjoyable plays, all three we have seen. The Curious Savage was good, My Sister Eileen entertaining and Good Housekeeping reminded us of State of the Union.

We're planning to enjoy On Approval next week.

COMMUNITY CONCERT ARTIST

With most recitalists, it is only on a few occasions that a perfect performance can be achieved without a few slips or wrong notes or loss of breath as all musicians well know. Especially is this true with a large and sensitive instrument such as the cello where greater strength and precision is demanded both of the left hand which attends to the fingering and the vibrato, and the right hand which must produce the tone with the bow.

In the third recital performance of the Community Concert series, Leonard Rose achieved what to this critic's ears was a perfect recital, and what is more, such an event is a common occurrence with this artist, for he is one of the greatest living cellists of the concert stage today.

Mr. Rose has acquired an old Amati cello with the sweetest tone, and he has the technique and artistry to make it sing with magnificent grandeur, or whisper with the softest accent; the beautiful range of the cello adds to the loveliness of the music, and patrons of the concert series enjoyed a musical treat that could not be equalled on this continent or foreign concert hall at any price.

After warming up with such early masters as Bach, Couperin, and Boccherini, the cello finally gave forth in all its richness with the great sonata of the immortal Franz Schubert, namely the "A" minor," followed by the singable "Melodie" of Rubinstein's, transcribed into the key of D to adapt it to the cello.

Then, for all the small fry and music students, there came the chance to hear Saint Saens lovely melody taken from the "Carnival of Animals," entitled "The Swan," written originally for the cello and harp, but played today by every conceivable instrument capable of producing a melody. The recital was closed with the moderns including Ibert, Debussey, and the great cellist, David Popper, with encores including Chopin's "C sharp minor Nocturne," and Haydn's "Minuet and Variations."

Mr. Rose was blessed with one of the finest accompanists in the business, in the person of Mitchell Andrews, who knows how to accompany a melody and give it support. Accompanying is becoming a lost art, and for such a sensitive instrument as the cello, it is of first importance.

A native of Iowa who completed his studies in the east, he gives encouragement to the many music students of our area who aspire to careers in the music field. His solo offerings include a little Bach, Chopin, and the "La Campenella" of Paganini-Liszt in the Busoni arrangement

ARLINGTON PLANS REVENGE AGAINST RIVERSIDE FRIDAY

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

THE NORTHWEST CONFERENCE scoring race is developing into an extremely close four man affair. John Hook, last week's leader, dropped to fourth with 127 points in eight games as Bensenville restricted him to eight points, while Bert Heuer was getting 25 and Dick Syzmonik 21 for the Bisons.

The result was that Syzmonik took third place with 129 and Heuer moved into second with 132. Two points in front with 134 is little Paul Schrage of Palatine who dropped 11 field goals against Ela from guard, forward, and even the center pivot positions.

Friday the high scoring Bensenville Bisons go to Palatine and Pirate fans will get a chance to see the Heuer-Syzmonik duo in action against Schrage and his mates.

PALATINE HAS TO KEEP ON WINNING, and that includes that all important crucial Friday the 13th clash at home with Antioch next week. Coach Gene Moylan is not unhappy the new gym is still two months from completion, as he thinks his zone defense will stop unbeaten Antioch on the old 38 foot wide Palatine court.

Palatine's home floor is worth at least eight points and that should be just about enough advantage to carry the Pirates through.

If they beat Antioch and gain a tie for the lead they should stay there with only Wauconda, winless to date, remaining on their schedule. Meanwhile, Palatine must meet the Bisons Friday and travel to Grant next Wednesday. Both will be all Palatine can handle.

ARLINGTON'S TOM BOWERSOX, in making 20 free throws in a row for the Cardinals, made 15 of them in conference play. He sank all of 11 attempts against LaGrange, made four before missing one against Glenbard, then swished through two more.

Tom Bowersox

In his eight best nights thus far this year Tom has made 40 of 45 attempts, including three perfect games.

* * *

The superstition that home floors mean an advantage in basketball was cast aside this past week end in West Suburban league play when seven of eight games were all won by the visitors . . . The other game was an overtime affair . . . On the curling team at Lawrence college is Phil Alley of Northbrook . . . The sectional tournament at Arlington Heights may be broadcast if a suitable sponsor can be found.

THE LOCAL SCHOOLS, Arlington Heights and Palatine, are pretty certain not to be in the Arlington regional tournament final this year. Palatine was rated fifth by the tournament coaches and meets number one Barrington in the opening game at 7:00 March 3. Arlington meets Ela-Vernon in the second game at 8:30 and, if victorious, has to face powerful Barrington the following night.

Libertyville gets the break this year, being seeded fourth and playing Wauconda in the lower bracket. Last year the positions were reversed and Libertyville had to open against Barrington. Both years Palatine and Libertyville split in their two meetings.

IT IS GOOD TO HAVE Arlington Heights finally win a varsity game in the West Suburban conference. What is more, all four Arlington cage teams dumped Glenbard last week end. The victory should give the Cards the confidence they need to keep on working up to a playing peak to be reached in their own regional tournament.

Guy Curtright, athletic director and football and baseball coach at Woodstock high school has resigned to go into business immediately. Curtright, a former White Sox outfielder, brought Woodstock three baseball championships, and a couple of football titles in his nine years at the McHenry county school.

CURTIS LARSEN, Arlington golf coach, was over last Friday after school to schedule a couple of golf matches with Palatine for April 13 at Arlington and May 6 at Inverness.

Larsen, whose teams have a perfect record with two championships in the West Suburban, states Dick Hauff and George Skelton will be the nucleus for what he hopes will be another strong team.

Arlington and Palatine have split their matches, each winning at home the past two years.

The West Suburban has changed their golf set up this year from eight man teams made up of five juniors and seniors and three frosh-sophs, to a varsity and a frosh-soph team with the same numbers, five and three. Coach Larson states Downers Grove will be the team to beat this spring.

GRAYSLAKE LOST TO BENSENVILLE Friday, 80-78, in a game which set four conference records. The records are: (1) the most points in one game, 158; the most free throws attempted by one player, 25 by Jay Hook of Grayslake; the most free throws made by one player, 18 by Jay Hook, and the most free throws scored by one team, 30 by Grayslake.

FROM ALL INDICATIONS Arlington Heights is going to be a perfect host to the other seven schools in the regional tournament. Last week principals, athletic directors and varsity coaches of the schools were guests of Arlington in planning the details of the tournament and the whole group approved of all the decisions which were arrived at in a very democratic manner.

Al Willis, state high school executive secretary, was present and was as impressed as the rest of us with the idea of getting together to make the plans.

The coaches got together and rated the officials, a new innovation, which should be extended to rating the teams for the pairings. The evening was topped off with a delicious steak dinner. We were all impressed with Arlington hospitality.

Pirates On The Spot To Retain Title Share

When Coach Novatny's Bensenville Bisons come to Palatine for basketball Friday night it is more than just another game in the series between the schools now in it's 27th season. Palatine must beat the Bisons to stay in the race for the championship with undefeated Antioch.

A victory for Bensenville would go a long way toward insuring a fourth place finish for the Bisons after losing their first four games. Then there is the individual scoring angle to make the game most interesting.

BERT HEUER has 132 points and Dick Syzmonik 129 for the Bisons right on the heels of Palatine's league leader Paul Schrage with 134. If Palatine can hold down the two Bison aces they should have no trouble winning, but no one stopped both of them in the same game with less than a dozen points.

Bensenville does not have a tall team but they have speed and shooting ability. The defense is not too good and the Bisons have been charged with a flock of personal fouls.

A wide open high scoring game is in prospect. Palatine has more height and much more reserve strength and rate the home floor edge.

Both teams have a close offensive average in games played thus far. The hosts have 58.75 points to the visitor's 57.87 points. Palatine is far ahead on defense with a 44.87 average to the Bisons' 58.87.

ELA-VERNON, stopped by Palatine and dropped three games behind the league leader, will play undefeated Antioch on the Sequoits' new home court. In an earlier meeting Ela had a cold night, shot a measly eight percent, and lost by more than 20 points. This is not likely to happen again.

Antioch's recent scores indicate a possible slump of which Ela might take advantage for an upset. In overall strength the smooth Antioch club should rate a five to 10 point edge on their home floor.

LAST TIME Grant and Grayslake met they set a scoring record since broken. Grant won 74-70 and the same kind of a game is expected. Both teams play fast break ball and have much scoring strength but weak defense.

It is anyone's game with the only sure thing a flock of points. John Hook, who split the nets for 28 the last time against Grant, is due for another big night and might regain his scoring lead after slumping to fourth place.

Wauconda, loser of 8 straight, will be idle.

State Sectional In Wrestling At New Trier

First details of the coming sectional wrestling meet at New Trier high school February 20 and 21 were released this week with two Arlington boys having more than even chance to take honors and go to the state finals at Urbana. The finals will be held February 27 and 28.

Most outstanding boys for Coach Dick Mudge this year are Norb Sargent and Bill Schaeffer.

Norb, wrestling at 120 pounds, has lost just one match this year, a decision to Whitaker of Waukegan. Bill has also lost just once this season, to Ranson of Elgin. He'll wrestle at 138 pounds in the sectional.

SCHAEFFER IS A junior while Sargent is carrying the colors of the Cardinal and White for the last time. Three or four other hopefuls are all juniors and one sophomore.

Team award will be given the winner at New Trier with individual awards going to first, second and third places. In the state finals, team awards will be given for first, second and third, with individual awards given in the same manner.

Entries for the sectional are due Wednesday of next week, after which pairings will be made.

Archery Tourney

The 17th annual city winter open archery championship tournament will be held February 20 through March 1 in the International Amphitheatre in conjunction with the sports, outdoor and travel show.

Jim Speers Bowls 727

Before Irv Hahnfeldt's record setting league series of 715 had even begun to collect dust at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine, Jim Speers hit 727 Wednesday night of last week. Jim had games of 226-289-212 for his big series in the Community league. He rolls for Weide Builders.

Speers is a 165-average bowler. Until the '49-'50 season he rolled at Arlington Heights, then switched to the Palatine establishment and the Community league.

Jim notched a spare, ten strikes, then hit nine for 289 in the middle game. In the third game he picked eight pins, rolled a gutter ball and missed a spare, then struck five more times for the 700 series.

St. Paul Leads

After last Friday night's games in the Lutheran dart ball league all four teams are clustered together.

Immanuel of Palatine defeated St. Paul of Mount Prospect three straight games with scores of 4-1, 8-2 and 7-6.

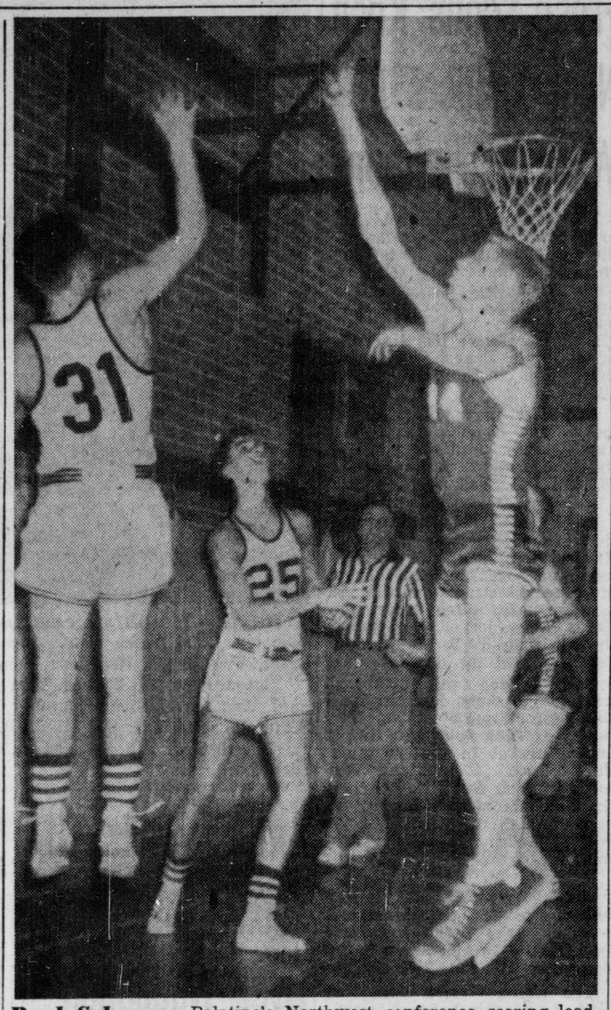
Meanwhile Faith of Arlington Heights defeated St. Peter's of Arlington Heights, 6-0 and 9-3. St. Peter's won one game, 5-3.

The standings are now as follows:

St. Paul, Mount Prospect	19	14
St. Peter, Arlington Hts.	18	15
Faith, Arlington Hts.	17	16
Immanuel, Palatine	12	21

Record Series

The American Bowling Congress record three-games series rolled by a five-man bowling team is 3797. It was scored on January 27, 1937 by the Hermann Undertakers, St. Louis. That is an average of 253 per man.



Paul Schrage, Palatine's Northwest conference scoring leader scores one of 11 field goals against Ela-Vernon Friday as he breaks from the corner for a jump shot. Pete Abramson, Palatine forward, number 25, is waiting if Schrage misses. Glen Chaffin of Ela, number 44, tries unsuccessfully to block Schrage's shot. Palatine won, 68-61, to repel Ela's bid for a second place tie.

In Accuracy At The Basket, It's Eakins And Gorder For Heights

The friendship between Johnny Eakins and Tom Bowersox has been going on a long time, since '44 to be exact when John moved to town from Kaintuck, but once the boys step to the free throw line, the rivalry begins with Arlington Heights high school the benefactor.

Eakins is tops in free throw accuracy to date, sinking 48 tosses in 72 attempts this year for a 67% average. Right behind is Bowersox with 55 good ones in 86 throws, good for 64%. Tom has made 22 of his last 23 attempts, though, and is raising his average within passing distance of Johnny.

BASKETBALL-WISE, Arlington fans haven't had too much to crow about this year. The team hasn't won many games, beating only Glenbard, Lake Forest and Palatine twice. It's the lesser squads that have provided the cheers as the frosh won 7 of 8, the sophs 8 of 11, and even the JVs have copped two.

But among the boys themselves, members of the varsity, spirit has not broken. They've come close plenty of times with three or four losses decided on just one key play which failed to bring the necessary bucket and that all-important lead. Loss of those plays swung the tide the other way in several games in which the scores failed to tell the inside story.

AS A TEAM the Cardinals have been hitting on 33% of their field goal attempts. They've made 212 of 641 attempts in 16 games, an average of 14 of 43 tries per fracas.

Penalty shots are running at a good figure, 57% of them dropping through the hoop. The boys have made 246 of 429 tries, averaging 16 of 28 per contest.

That's an average of 44 points per game, about 35 points under the figure for LaGrange.

IN FIELD GOALS Herb Gorder is tops in accuracy for Heights, making 47 of 98 shots for a 47% mark. Next comes George Skelton with 32 good ones of 81 attempts, or 40%. Eakins and Bowersox are both tied for third spot at 31%. John has accounted for 45 of 143 attempts, and Tom 41 of 130 tries.

Controlling the rebounds is another important point in any basketball game. Arlington has been averaging 28 rebounds per game, 11 of them offensive, 17 defensive.

On the defensive side Dave Turner has snagged 52, Bowersox 40 and Dick McAuliffe 34. Offensively, Turner has reached for 38, McAuliffe 32 and Bowersox 30.

ANALYZING THE PLAY of the entire squad has been the job of Coach Ray DeGreeff's managers for the Cardinal and White this year, with statistics of each game revealing errors in judgment as well as shooting accuracy.

The local five has made 118 bad passes to date, an eight average. Fumbles, 73 total, five average. Violations, 50 total, three average. Pass interceptions, 81 total, five average.

An even quarter thousand fouls have been assessed against the Cardinals, a per game average of 17. Top men in this respect have been McAuliffe with 51, Eakins 46, and Turner 43.

Out Of Town Bouts For Golden Gloves

Twenty-seven out of town centers and Chicago will continue their Golden Gloves elimination trials this week which will send the eventual winners into the Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium the evenings of February 23, 24, and 25.

Chicago will hold its north section preliminaries Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. A week from Monday the north and south side champions will clash for city-wide honors and the right to participate in the Stadium.

By midnight Saturday all out of town centers but nine will have qualified their teams for the greatest amateur boxing show of the world. A total of 18 cities will crown their titleholders during this week's activity. The number of bouts scheduled by the 28 centers should exceed last week's estimated total of 1,000 matches.

All mail orders for the Tournament of Champions and the finals on March 6 should be directed to the Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago 11.

Sophs On The Spot In York Game Wednesday

by BOB PADDOCK

Three league games in eight days — that is the slate ahead of the Arlington Heights high school basketball team, just over the hurdle of gaining its first West Suburban conference victory of the season, a 53-37 affair at Glenbard Friday.

The Cardinals play host to Riverside-Brookfield Friday night February 6, travel to York in Elmhurst Wednesday night, February 11, then come back home to meet Hinsdale Friday night of next week, February 13.

THE LOCALS lost to Riverside-Brookfield earlier this year, 74-54, but will be out to shorten that margin this time, perhaps turn in a victory instead.

The visitors are currently tied with Maine in fourth place. They have beaten Hinsdale and Downers Grove twice, and lost to Maine by one point. The Cardinals lost to Hinsdale by four points, to Maine by two and to Downers Grove by 12.

The West Suburban loop appears evenly balanced this year, other than York and LaGrange, with the other six schools capable of knocking one another off at any time. Wednesday night the Heights five will be the definite underdog at York, but in the other four remaining league games Arlington rates a fair chance to swing a couple of victories.

BIG INTEREST locally is the frosh-soph division where Coach Maurice Klotz' aggregation has a chance to at least reduce the number of leaders by one. The local yearlings are currently in third place, just one game out of first. York and Downers Grove are leading the way with 6-2 records.

Just how even the frosh-soph division stands can be told by a glance at this past week's results when it took league leader Downers an overtime to beat Hinsdale, tied with Riverside for last place.

The big night for Heights will be Wednesday at Elmhurst when the young Cards attempt to gain revenge for a previous 45-41 beating. Final game of the year will also be crucial when Arlington hosts Downers Grove in what could be the big chance for Heights to garner a share of this year's title.

OTHER ACTIVITY in the West Suburban Friday puts Glenbard at Hinsdale, Maine at LaGrange and Downers Grove at York. If Downers could win the frosh-soph game Friday night, then York bow to Heights Wednesday, the three squads would be in the driver's seat.

LaGrange travels to Hinsdale Wednesday night, Downers is at Maine and Riverside plays host to Glenbard Wednesday night. Other Heights activity includes a gymnastics meet at University high of Chicago and varsity wrestling at Niles Friday, Freshmen basketball at Riverside and JV basketball with Palatine at Arlington Saturday.

Monday both varsity and frosh-soph wrestlers travel to LaGrange, with the frosh cagers engaging Leyden at home Wednesday. Thursday afternoon Coach Dick Mudge's wrestlers entertain Zion-Benton.

Frosh-Sophs Keep Near Leaders In WSC Competition

The weather turned cold Saturday but it was too late — the ice had already been broken Friday night at Glenbard when Arlington's Cardinals copped their first West Suburban league victory of the year, 53-37. The local five had lost nine in a row to league foes, eight this season, before the win at Glenbard.

And just to make it unanimous, the Heights frosh-sophs did it in the preliminary, 61-44, the frosh Saturday morning, 51-33, and the JVs, too, 48-45.

IT WAS A 16-4 third quarter that salted the game for Coach Ray DeGreeff's boys, with the locals on the short end of one of those disastrous quarters for a change. So often before the Cards have lost ball games through inability to hit the hoop one period of the games.

Herb Gorder came through with two baskets, McAuliffe accounted for three points and Tom Bowersox sank four free throws and a bucket in that "glorious third." Turner, Eakins and Skelton all added free throws to help the cause. Momentum carried the boys through the fourth quarter, too, 17-11 for the final victory margin.

TOM BOWERSOX set what is believed to be a Heights record when he sank free throw numbers 17, 18, 19 and 20 in a row before missing that 21st attempt.

The string started with the last toss against St. Edward, included 11 against LaGrange, and four against Crystal Lake. Tom has made good on 55 of 86 free throws this season for 64% accuracy.

High point man against Glenbard was John Eakins with four baskets and six of eleven charities. McAuliffe and Gorder each hit for three baskets. Once again, though, Arlington could just barely hit 50 points, but held the opposition to 15 points under their opponents' average of 52 to win.

FIRST HALF was close with Arlington holding a 10-9 lead the opening frame and being one bucket behind at the half, 22-20. High point men for Glenbard were Cook with nine and Cline with seven points.

One reason for the victory was rebounding where Heights gathered in 46 returns, against an average 28. Those additional eighteen times the ball was taken helped.

THE FROSH-SOPHS could do no wrong for the Cardinal and White in the preliminary as they won, 61-44. The locals tossed from all angles and distances, yet hit with uncanny accuracy. A ten point opening period margin was cut to seven at the half, 30-23. A 20-14 scoring rampage the third quarter spurt put Coach Maurice Klotz' five 13 points into the lead and enabled him to use twelve boys. The young Cardinals won going away, outscoring the losers in the home stretch, 11-7.

Wayne Malzahn hit seven from the field as Dennis Maher was making good on six. Maher also sank five of eight free throws. Wayne Mueller, playing just two minutes over two quarters, sank four buckets. Morgan and Edwards were tops for the losers, each with twelve points.

The victory kept the local second year men just one game behind the leaders, Downers Grove and York.

Heights Frosh And JVs Trip Bards, Too

School colors meant nothing Saturday morning at Arlington Heights high school when neither Coach "Bus" Ormsbee's freshmen nor Coach Ken Schaller's junior-varsity showed any mercy for Coach Walt Beckman's Glenbard youngsters. Walt calls Arlington his alma mater, but the younger generation now in school didn't appear to recognize the graduate.

The Frosh repeated an earlier win by taking this one, 51-33, leading all the way. Looking particularly good for Heights were Randag, Sujack, Siech and Malzahn, though the latter played just two minutes, sank two buckets, then was taken out after scoring 15 times with the sophomores the night before.

THE WIN gave the first year boys a 7-1 record to date, the only loss a 42-33 decision to Niles January 23. Strongest games still on the docket for the squad include repeats with Niles and Leyden. A game with Palatine was carded for Wednesday of this week.

Arlington took the first quarter, 15-8, then stood still until the intermission, 20-12. A 17-7 margin the third segment showed which way the wind was blowing, ending with a 14-all final period. Both Randag and Brumm carded four baskets apiece, the latter tying Sujack for high point honors with ten. Tops for Glenbard were Geisler and Madsen, both with seven points.

THE JUNIOR-VARSITY squad took its second victory of the year, both in a row, when they led all the way but almost lost out towards the end of the contest, 48-45. First period tally of 10-6 was extended to 20-13 at the intermission. A nine point 34-25 third quarter margin was almost disspiated through the use of substitutes.

Verret looked good on rebounding at both ends for Hts., with the squad playing good ball the first half until midway in the third period. Inability of several of the boys to both see their mates and get the ball to them was evident on many missed opportunities.

High scorers for Arlington were Ryden with five baskets and seven of eight free throws, and Thomas with nine points. Tops for Glenbard was Weichenhain with 15 scores.

Palatine Keeps Title Hopes Alive With Win Over Ela-Vernon, 68-61

The Palatine Pirates kept in contention for the Northwest conference championship Saturday night as they edged the Ela Bears, 68 to 61. The game was an important engagement for both teams, as a loss for Palatine would have set them back in a second place tie; but the Pirates turned the trick and gained undisputed hold on second place with a 7 and 1 record.

The Pirates took a 14 to 7 lead at the quarter and increased their lead 31 to 25 at the end of the first half. The Pirates had a 50 to 35 lead at the end of the 3rd quarter, but saw it slowly fade in the final period as the Bears outscored the Pirates, 26 to 18. Don Prouty, Ela guard, led the comeback surge with a total of seven baskets in the final four minutes, after Schrage and Meyer had fouled out for Palatine.

PAUL SCHRAGE, starting his first game at forward, was high for the Pirates with 22 points while Busch and Meyer each had 12. Prouty scored 15 and Cole 14 for Ela. Palatine's next game is at home, Friday night against Bensenville.

The Ela frosh-sophs gained a second place tie with Palatine as they routed Palatine's frosh-sophs, 58 to 37. The Bears jumped to a 16 to 6 first quarter lead and went on to lead the Pirates 27 to 16 at the half.

PALATINE STAYED within 12 points of Ela in the third quarter but the Bears, led by Jim Landwehr, turned the game into a runaway in the fourth quarter as they turned up a final 58 to 37 count on the Pirates.

Eck had 18 points and Schutz 8 for the Pirates while Landwehr was high for the winners with 21.

Arlington Wrestlers Whitewash Palatine

Arlington wrestlers whitewashed Palatine Tuesday in the Heights gym, 56-0, though three Palatine boys looked good and could have taken decisions. The short end of the tally was reminiscent of Arlington two short years ago when the Cardinals were just initiating the sport as Palatine is doing this season.

Both Grant, who gave Arlington's Bill Schaeffer a going over until the latter won, 10-6, and B. McKee, who was pinned by John Milnamow, appear outstanding for the Pirates with a chance to do something in the coming sectional. Decosta also looked good for Palatine.

Antioch Fails To Look Impressive Over Wauconda

Antioch looked far from impressive last week end as they beat winless Wauconda, 49-33, in a Northwest conference game Friday and dropped a 60-53 tilt to Libertyville Saturday night. The week before they barely defeated second division Grant.

Friday the Sequoits ran up a 11-0 lead at the outset but led by only 27-19 at half time. Bruce Stahmer topped a balanced team scoring effort with 13 points followed by Bob Floyd 12, and Ben Floyd 10. Hecht had nine and Punches eight for Wauconda. It was Antioch's seventh straight success and Wauconda's eighth setback. Antioch's frosh-sophs maintained their undefeated status with a 44-26 win.

Bensenville Edges Grayslake In Thriller

by DON TUCHSCHERER

Bensenville's cagers captured their second double-header program of the year last Friday night when the varsity nudged Grayslake, 80-78, and the frosh-soph squad won out by a 29-24 count on the Bison floor, avenging an earlier double loss.

The varsity contest proved to be a see-saw affair all the way with Bensenville holding the advantage by a narrow margin during most of the first half before turning back a rally by the visitors in the final 20 minutes of play. The Bisons were on top 18-15 at the quarter and 40-31 at halftime, but Grayslake came back strong to knot the score at 47-all in the third stanza.

BENSENVILLE held on strongly, however, and time ran out on the late surge by the Rams, who were paced by Jay Hook with 28 points. Bert Heuer dumped in 25 points to pace the Bison attack and he was closely followed by teammate Rich Szymonik with 21 markers.

Three new records were established in the game. Hook's 18 successful free throws topped a mark of 15 that was set last season by Wauconda's Bob Nolan. The 30 charity tosses made by the entire Grayslake team also represented a new peak. In addition, the point total of 158 for both teams bettered an old record of 145.

Bensenville (80)	fg	-ft	p	Grayslake (78)	fg	ft	p
Long	4	5-6	2	Jay Hook	5	18-25	3

THE FROSH-SOPH game was much the same as the varsity duel since the Rams came from behind in the second half only to fall behind in the final moments. The Bisons held a 16-10 advantage at the half, but then fell behind by a 17-16 score in the third period. Ken Sirotski of Bensenville was the leading scorer for both fives with 19 points.

Arlington Wrestlers Whip Hinsdale, 38-8

Arlington's wrestlers found little opposition at Hinsdale Wednesday of last week, winning 38-8. One match was forfeited when Stockton was 3/4 pound overweight. Stockton won his match on a 6-0 decision, but the forfeit stood.

Only other points garnered by the host school were three by Purcell when he decisioned Burns, 7-1. Pins were gained for Arlington by Bredfeldt in 55 seconds, Mulso, Hoth and Wilkerson. Decisions were won by Piepenbrink, Heintz, Eberhardt, Kennicott and Zikmund.

Mt. Prospect Country Club Lady Keglers In Match Game Championship Roll-Offs

Marion Ladewig's Fanatorium Majors of Grand Rapids, Michigan and Sarah Alongi's Mount Prospect Country club of Chicago's women's classic wheel will vie for the BPAA national women's team match game championship February 7-8, 14-15. This match, the first for women competitors, is conducted by the Bowling Proprietors Association of America.

The first half of this battle will be rolled at the Fireside Bowl, 2648 W. Fullerton ave., while the stage for the concluding portion will be the Fanatorium Recreation in Grand Rapids. The test is a 24-game affair, with four blocks of three games each bowled in the respective cities, Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings.

THE TWO quintets qualified for this event by finishing 1-2 in the eliminations in Detroit recently.

The winners will receive a purse of $500. They will also reign as champions until the eliminations in 1954 when the crown goes on the block.

The "Fans" line-up is headed by Capt. Marion Ladewig, the outstanding keglerette of our times. Four-time All-Star champion, Marion has held every title imaginable and her record 1981 total for an 8-game stretch in the 1951 All Star finals will probably never be touched. Wyllis Ryskamp, Marge Boluyt, Marty Roberts, Charlotte Kardas and Marge Davison round out the roster.

AS A TEAM, the Fanatoriums were the WIBC tourney champions in 1951. They are credited with the eighth best total in WIBC all time records, shooting 3,086 in May, 1950.

The "Country Clubbers" are spearheaded by Ruth Jensen, finalist in the All-Star the last two years and Chicago's match game queen. Ruth also paced the Women's Traveling Classic, a fast Chicago loop, last year with 181 average. The balance of the line-up lists Capt. Sarah Alongi, Kay Freitag, Sylvia Fanta and Olga Gloor.

THE MOUNT Prospect five has held the Chicago City title for three consecutive years, are defending champions in the Women's Traveling Classic and were runners up in the 1951 WIBC Championship Tournament.

June Kristof, pretty star of Investors Savings in the women's classic traveling league, will join Mount Prospect Country club as a sixth member for the national women's match game title play against the Fanatoriums. June is the wife of the high-powered Joe of Classic league fame, and she also rolls Fridays at Bowler's club in Forest Park, for the home unit in the West Suburban women's classic league.

PROPRIETOR OF the Fireside Bowl is Henry Sophie, co-owner with his son, Bob, of the Mount Prospect country club in Mount Prospect. None of the women keglers live out this way, however.

IRISH SETTER TRIAL

The Irish Setter club of Missouri will hold its 4th annual amateur field trial February 8 at the famous A. Busch memorial wildlife area (just outside St. Louis on U. S. 40). The trial will begin at 8 a.m. The club is offering puppy, derby and shooting dog stakes. Entries must be received by February 7 and should be sent to Mrs. James M. Groll, Box 106, Hilltop rd., Ellisville, Mo.

Mikan Washed Up? Down To 19.5 Points A Game Ave.

George Mikan, the most prolific scorer in basketball history (at least until this season,) is a big, ambling, normally placid Croat.

But there's one way to bring the choler to his cheeks. Ask him if he's washed up.

George's ears are tuned to the innuendo currently bruited about the National Basketball Association that the big guy is on his last legs. Poor George is averaging only 19.5 points a game for the world champion Minneapolis Lakers.

That's like Babe Ruth poking out a puny 35 home runs a season. A young Italian marquis, visiting this country, said, "One of my big ambitions is to see Mr. Basketball, George Mikan, play these games." In Europe they've heard of him yet.

THERE NEVER was a one like Mikan since the day Dr. James Naismith hung up those peach baskets in the Springfield, Mass., gymnasium in 1891. If Mr. Basketball is toppling from his exalted peak, it's news. It's also news to the party concerned, as he surveys the prospect of his $20,000 plus yearly being slashed commensurate with the dips in his scoring average.

Lumbering George, with his 6 feet 10 inches, always has been a hungry basektball player. He's never going to be happy when an evening's work shows six or seven points in the score book, as it has a couple of times this Winter.

Yet in Minneapolis, George's Boswell, sports writer Bill Carlson says: "George is a vastly superior player today over the one who joined the Lakers November 20, 1947. He is no longer the bull of his early pro days.

"FOR THE first time in his career, I believe he is an honest to goodness team man. George has pretty well mastered that urge to be 'Mr. Big' in every game."

Two years ago George was at his all-time peak. He averaged 28.4 points per game, a pro mark, with a remarkable 42.8 shooting percentage. Today the big center has tailed off nine points a game and five in his percentage of good shots.

In the two intervening years there was enacted the 12-foot free-throw lane and Mikan matured to 28.

THE WIDENING of the area around a basket where a pivot man can't park more than three seconds hurt Mikan. It made him throw from farther out.

"The old game was built for a guy like me who could set near the basket and throw hooks all day," shrugs George. "The new game is designed for the man who can move. The rule change was aimed at me, and in a way I'm proud of it.

"My legs are still good. I can shoot as well as ever. I'm down to my best weight of 240.

I'M ACTING the decoy most of the time. The other fellows are finding out they can hit, too, and they're taking shots.

"We've got a different style of offense that Johnny Kundla put in this year. Our forwards used to play the corners, leave the lanes open to me for passes. This year they're coming out to pick off for the guard and drawing the other team with them.

"Maybe there are three men in the area between me and the guy with the ball, I have to shift to the other side of the court, and then I'm out of position for a pass.

"I've been getting most of my points this year off the boards on tips and rebounds."

Barrington Rallies To Edge Woodstock

A rally by the Barrington Bronchos spelled defeat for the Woodstock Blue Streaks Friday.

Barry Berghorn's last minute field goal accounted for the winning points in the Bronchos' 48-47 triumph over the Blue Streaks at Woodstock. Coach Bob Menke's keyed-up charges led throughout the game, but were unable to stave off the rallying Bronchos in the final moments. Berghorn contributed 17 of the winner's total, while Ralph Scharnau and Chuck Sahs got 14 and 12 for the Streaks.

The victory kept the Barrington victory skien in the North Suburban going and stretched it to nine straight games.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of beloved husband, Frank Maierhofer, who passed away three years ago February 3.

God knew that you were suffering
He knew you were in pain,
He knew you never could get well
In this world again.
He saw the road was getting rough
The hills were hard to climb,
So he closed your weary eyelids
And whispered, peace be thine.
A loving father so true and kind,
No friend on earth like you we find,
For all of us you did your best,
May God grant you eternal rest.

Davey Fared Better Against Same Boxers

On paper, Davey could beat Gavilan.

Chuck Davey, the undefeated Michigan State challenger, and Kid Gavilan, the welterweight champion, who meet in the Chicago Stadium on February 11, have fought four common opponents during their careers.

In all of the four comparisons, Davey fared much better than did the favored champ. Against Ike Williams, for instance, Gavilan lost a 10 round decision the first time they met, although the Kid had a big weight advantage. The Kid came back to win two other split decisions from Williams. Davey, on the other hand, fighting Williams as a welterweight, stopped the former lightweight champ in the fifth round in what turned out to be the crossroads match of his career.

TOMMY CIARLO, of Westbury, Conn., held Gavilan to a draw the first time they met in 1950 and finally was able to score a 10 round decision in 1951 and followed up with an eight round TKO. Davey knocked out Ciarlo in the fourth round, in what was Chuck's first main event in New Orleans.

Against Johnny Williams of Montgomery, Ala., Gavilan scored two 10 round decisions while Davey knocked out Williams in the seventh round in Toledo recently. Fitzie Pruden lost a close split decision to Gavilan in Milwaukee and later dropped a sixth round TKO to the Kid. Davey put Pruden away in the third round in Cleveland last month.

Expedition

An expedition to collect amphibians and reptiles for Chicago Natural history museum, first in southern California and then in the Mexican state of Sonora, will get under way with the departure Friday, February 6, of Clifford H. Pope, curator of amphibians and reptiles.

Declining Increase

In the first 12 months after the start of the Korean War, prices of farm property climbed 17 per cent; in the second 12 months, they climbed only 5 per cent.

2-Inch Thick Blanket Insulation Is Best

Beyond 2 inches' thickness, insulation usually cannot stop enough additional heat loss in the home to repay its additional cost. A 2-inch thick blanket insulation that does not completely fill up the space is generally advisable.

The air spaces created on both sides of the blanket form added barriers to heat loss. Paint failure or rotting of wood due to condensation are prevented if the insulation selected has an aluminum vaporseal cover.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That the purpose of all existence should be constant progression with daily unfoldment of spiritual perfection, health and holiness, will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 8. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be SPIRIT.

The Golden Text is from John (4:24) "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include:

"No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us. Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit" (I John 4:12, 13).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Spirit is God, and man is His image and likeness. Therefore man is not material; he is spiritual . . . Everything in God's universe expresses Him . . . He is all-inclusive, and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else. He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual" (pp. 468, 331).

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

by WILLIAM McGILL

Rev. Charles W. Arbuthnot was in the shadow of our steeple the other evening. Mr. Arbuthnot is field administrator for Europe of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church, and he was in the country for a short time for the biennial meeting of field administrators. For one night, while he was here, he talked to us and some of our friends about his work.

The board of foreign missions got into work in Europe without planning to, and cannot get out because the emergency quality of the work has not diminished. There had been frequent efforts on the continent over the years, but always in relation to special needs which were soon completed. The magnitude of the void following the war is such that completion has not occurred.

THE WORK OF direct relief has been tremendous and it continues to be. For a while the refugee rate from East Germany was stabilized at about 600 per day, lately it has stepped up to 1,000 per day. Homes, food, jobs, are a great day to day responsibility.

In the development of pilot projects, the churches have rendered a valuable service. The "Hilfeswerk" for example, has been offering cooperative labor on housing construction. Since the churches have demonstrated that it can be done, government agencies have adopted the plan.

Few people jump at the chance to be served by governments. Christian imagination has found it necessary to demonstrate what can be done, in order for imagination to break through red-tape and channels of action.

THE CHURCHES are engaged in helping citizens witness to their Christian faith. CIMADE, an organization of French youth, has been one of these. It has emphasized the priestly role of all believers, the duty to testify. Some of these were engaged in the late periods of the war, for instance, in breaking into concentration camps in order to share the plight of suffering people and speak of God's love.

In answer to a question regarding "operation rathole" as some circles conceive the "Marshall Plan" of economic cooperation, Mr. Arbuthnot suggested, first, that we in America have not understood the greatness of the need, and second, he implied that we have been deliberately misinformed. As to the first, Europe as the scene of two great wars has become aware of the void of personal significance. The fruits of the industrial revolution have not all been harvested, and Europe's harvest is thought to be considerably earlier than ours. Perhaps by their example, we may avoid the "bitter fruit" of industrialism.

BUT GOVERNMENT financing in great sums is essentially conservative, it spends on projects which have been tried and proven. Private charitable efforts, such as that of the churches, have room to be imaginative.

It it necessary that the churches be imaginative. In many cases, the working groups have so far lost their sense of personal significance that they are hostile to churches. In one locality in France, church workers conducted a social service recreation and discussion program for three years before it was possible to hold a religious service with any hope of friendly participation.

When the Great Hour of Sharing strikes in many churches, March 8, one of the programs to be served will be the Inter Church Relief Service, in which Mr. Arbuthnot and the board he serves are cooperating members.

Christian Science Lecture Feb. 6 At Barrington

Liberation from disease, fear, sin, and all discord through spiritual understanding of the teachings of Christ Jesus will be the topic of a lecture to be given in Barrington on February 6 by Paul Stark Seeley of Portland, Oregon.

On a nationwide lecture tour, Mr. Seeley is a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Barrington in the Elementary school auditorium, 310 S. Hough st., Barrington, at 8:00 p. m.

SUBJECT OF his lecture will be "Christian Science: The Truth That Frees." The public is invited to attend without charge.

Mr. Seeley has been prominent in the Christian Science movement for many years. He has traveled throughout the English-speaking world, Europe, South America, South Africa, and Australia, speaking on Christian Science.

In 1944 he was President of The Mother church, and for six years he served in Boston, Mass., as associate editor of the Christian Science religious periodicals. He is a graduate of Princeton and of Harvard University Law school, and spent some years with an engineering company in the Northwest before resigning to devote his full time to Christian Science. He is a member of the bar in New York and Oregon.

Heights Students To Model In Wiebolt's Fashion Show Saturday

Suzanne Marsh, Arlene Gordor, and Barbara Sheets, Arlington Heights, will model at the Wiebolt's high school fashion show on Saturday, February 7, at 10:30 in the Evanston Room.

Each year the Wiebolts store in Evanston sponsors a high school fashion board composed of girls from the various high schools in the northwest area. In previous years only one representative has been chosen from the schools, but this year it has been done differently with about 10 girls from each school on the board.

From this group one girl was chosen from each school to model in the show. Arlington was privileged to have two girls, Arlene and Barbara, picked to model. Suzanne is on the senior fashion board so she is modeling also.

Representing AHTHS modeling throughout the store are Alise Boyland, Barbara Day, Sheila Gaughen, Bonnie Barrow, Ellen Wilson, Kay Rask, Jane Schumacher, Mary Lagorio, Arlene Heiss, Barbara Coffman, Carol Hadland, and Carol Beigal.

$4,141 Picked Up By Mothers In Polio March

Despite cold and falling snow, 250 women joined the Mothers' March on Polio last Thursday evening and in one hour's time collected $4,141.30 from the citizens of Arlington Heights.

This total is in addition to the March of Dimes contributions received during the month of January and does not include the $1,500 allotted by the Community Chest. This is the second year the Mothers' march has been held in Arlington and the total money collected exceeded last year's amount by several hundred dollars.

A STRONG spirit of community participation was especially notable this year. People wanted to be sure their donations would be collected, and telephone calls were received from outlying areas to ascertain that they would not be overlooked by the marching mothers. And when returns started coming in to headquarters it was immediately apparent that the "City of Good Neighbors" had again lived up to its name. Voluntary donations are still coming in and the final total for the entire month will be announced shortly.

The generous cooperation of Paddock Publications in publicizing this drive played a large part in its success, and the Woman's club, which sponsored the March, is duly grateful. It also wishes to thank the hard-working committee who so ably and willingly assisted the chairman—Mrs. W. J. Oliphant, Mrs. Edward Corcoran, Mrs. M. L. Kurtz and Mrs. Albert Seidel; the zone captains and the marching mothers; the principals of all the public and parochial schools; Mrs. Nat Burfeind and other members of the PTA; the police and fire departments; all the local merchants, particularly the Arlington Radio and Record Shop and Rodewald News Agency; Arlington Heights National Bank; and every "good neighbor" who gave so generously.

All this good work brings closer the day everyone is hoping and praying for—the day when the final answer to dreaded polio is found. When it is found it will be through the research financed by these drives for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis so generously supported by the townspeople.

Elect Directors And Officers Of Arlington Savings And Loan Ass'n.

E. F. Laurin was elected president last week of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association. Other officers elected are Charles Wilson, vice-president. Alvin Popp, treasurer; Irwin Rinker, secretary.

The directors in addition to the above are: Carl Klehm, Robert Beatty and Paul Collins.

Actual opening of the institution must await approval of the organization minutes by the U. S. treasury department, and the payment of $100,000 in subscriptions, after which the federal insurance provisions become effective.

A representative of the treasury department has told the organizers that in the last 12 years only seven associations have been authorized in the State of Illinois. In addition to receiving deposits, and acceptance of loan applications, the association will sell U. S. E bonds and traveler's checks.

A dividend of 2½ per cent will be assured depositors. Applications for loans are now being received.

Mothers' Club To Feature Book Review

On the program for the next meeting of the St. James Mothers' club February 12 at the Arlington Heights field house is a book review by Mrs. G. S. Dueball. She will review the book "April Snow" by Lillian Budd. The meeting will start at 8:15 p. m.

Third grade mothers will be hostesses. (AM

Auto Accidents Injure One; Boy Seriously Hurt When Sled Hits Tree

A Palatine man was injured Tuesday morning in a collision involving two automobiles and a semi-trailer truck at the intersection of routes 53 and 62.

The driver of the truck, Stanley J. Grzywinski, 58, stated he had stopped at the intersection and saw the car driven by Robert R. Stibgen, 26, of 236 W. Slade, Palatine, approaching on his left. The car driven by the injured man, Ernest Haseman, 52, Rt. 1, Palatine, also stopped at the intersection but Haseman failed to see the approaching vehicle.

Stigben's car struck Haseman's and the rear of the truck. Both cars were towed to Arlington Fender and Body.

A 10 year old Des Plaines boy, Barry Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Collins, suffered serious injuries when his sled crashed into a tree while he was coasting in the Deer Grove forest preserves.

Barry's right leg had a long deep laceration, running from near the groin to about midway between the knee and ankle. The flesh was cut to the bone, apparently by a runner on the sled. He was taken to St. Joseph hospital, Elgin.

The injured lad was one of a group of boy scouts from Des Plaines, who were enjoying an outing in the woods.

William Spilios, Palatine, escaped injury when his station wagon slid off the road and rolled over on Higgins rd., near Mount Prospect rd., early Monday morning. Spilios was returning from a dog show in Cleveland when the accident occurred. His first concern was for the safety of his dog, "Billy Boy," whom he covered with his coat while waiting for aid.

Fabio Pagniucci, St. Charles, purchased a 1941 Ford from an Arlington Heights garage Saturday, and three hours later the garage was called to tow in the wreckage of the auto. The accident ocurred on Rt. 53, between Irving Park and Lake st., and the auto was a complete loss. No details were ava lable at this writing.

New Police Sergeant, Patrolman Needed By Arlington Police Force

An ordinance creating a vacancy for a second police sergeant on the Arlington Heights police force was passed at the village board meeting Tuesday night.

This action authorizes the board of police and fire commission to hold exams to fill the position. The police department also seeks a new patrolman and applications for the position will be taken at the police station.

Nelson Hauff, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the board to suggest some provision be made to create a loading zone in the middle of the block on Campbell st., between Dunton and Vail. He said the double parking of delivery trucks, plus parking on both sides of the street by shoppers, creates a hazard, especially in the event of a fire. The matter was referred to the street and police committee.

A public hearing will be held February 23, at 8 p. m., at the village hall, on the petition to rezone the property located south of the Chicago and North Western railroad to a line parallel with Eastman st. and extending westerly from Salem ave. to a distance of approximately 232 feet. Its present classification is residential and the petitioners seek to have it rezoned for industrial to permit the erection of a Hydrox ice cream distributor's plant. This plant will not manufacture ice cream, but will serve as a freezer storage for wholesale distribution. The property is just west of the Grigsby Allison plant.

Building permits during the month of January totaled $322,200. They included 10 single family residences, $173,000; one commercial garage (Chevrolet), $140,000; one private garage, $1,200; one residential alteration, $5,000 and one non-residential alteration, $3,000.

William Leo Dalton

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Dalton, 56 S. Elm, Palatine, had the misfortune Tuesday morning to lose their three-month-old baby son, William Leo Dalton.

Funeral services were held in St. Theresa church Wednesday morning with interment in All Saints cemetery, Des Plaines. The little boy was born October 24, 1952. A month later the family moved to Orchard Hills, Palatine.

Remaining members of the family are in addition to the bereaved parents, two brothers, B. J. and Danny. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Byron W. Dalton and Mrs. N. A. Golden, all of Chicago.

Rezoning To Permit Gas Station Taken Under Advisement

The matter of rezoning the northwest corner of State and Central rds., Arlington Heights, from residential to a business classification was taken under advisement by the zoning board of appeals following a public hearing Monday night.

Leo Orris, owner of the property, seeks to have the property rezoned to permit the erection of a new Shell service station. His attorney, Jerome J. Sladkey, told the zoning board that Orris had purchased the property in 1925 and it was officially zoned commercial in 1927. It remained in that classification, and Orris paid taxes accordingly, until 1947, when it was rezoned residential. Sladkey claimed his client had never been notified of the rezoning.

Orris said he had purchased the property with the express desire of some day developing it for commercial purposes. When he became aware the property had been rezoned he claimed he wrote a letter of protest to the board, to which he never received an answer.

The zoning board is doing everything in its power to eliminate spot zoning in the village and feel that this property should not be rezoned unless the petitioners can show that the rezoning would be a direct benefit to the community as a whole. No property owners were present to object to the rezoning. The board will render a decision in the near future.

Illinois TAX FACTS

By George L. Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Confronted already with 120 proposals contained in the programs of various organizations for legislation affecting State and local government spending and taxing power, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois held the first of a series of policy meetings in January to determine what federation policy should be in order to reflect the thinking of taxpayers of Illinois on these proposals.

In view of the certainty that another amendment to the revenue article of the Illinois constitution will be proposed at the 1955 general assembly, and the probability that a commission will be created by the 1953 general assembly to prepare such an amendment, it was agreed the Taxpayers' Federation should participate in the work of preparing such an amendment in order to protect the taxpayers, and also to insist any such amendment shall prohibit future diversion of highway user taxes for other than highway purposes. It was also agreed that the proposed judicial and reapportionment amendments to be considered by the current general assembly are out of the Federation's field.

It was agreed the Federation would support, or propose if necessary, an appropriation of $50,000 to the Illinois public employee pension laws commission to be used to finance a complete analysis of the more than 160 separate public employee pension funds and the tabulation of the information in such form that costs of proposed changes in and consolidations of existing systems can be accurately determined.

It was agreed to endorse legislation exempting all downstate counties from the jury commission act.

The Taxpayers' Federation will oppose to the utmost of its ability any attempt by the various local governments to repeal or weaken the Hodge-Downing tax rate limitation laws. The Federation will oppose extension of time for preparation of delinquent tax lists, will oppose legislation permitting county-wide drainage districts as undesirable and unconstitutional, will oppose legislation requiring county boards to publish any part of their minutes pertaining to financial transactions.

The Federation will oppose mandatory legislation dictating to local governments the minimum wages they must pay or the maximum hours or days that employees can work. The Federation will oppose legislation for state or local governments to enter into collective bargaining agreements. The Federation will oppose legislation giving counties and townships power to regulate speed of vehicles and giving townships power to impose a wheel tax.

The Federation will oppose legislation giving municipalities power to levy a sidewalk maintenance tax even with a referendum, because the solution to the problem is already available either through special assessment or through an increase in corporate tax rate by referendum. The Federation will oppose legislation giving cities power to license for revenue, will oppose removal of the referendum requirements from the power to levy a city sales tax.

Kitsmiller Polio Home Open In Park Ridge

Started only 35 days ago, the Mary Kitsmiller house at 1324 Vine, has been completed and furnished, and is open to the public for nine days, ending February 8.

At the request of Mrs. Kitsmiller, for whom the home was built through the combined generosity and hard work of many people, a contribution box will be in the living room for donations to the March of Dimes campaign. All donations received from those viewing the record-setting project will go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which, according to Mary, has given "life itself" to her and thousands of others stricken by polio.

Opening Night Of Ice Capades For City of Hope

The City of Hope, famed national, free, non-sectarian hospital devoted to cancer and tuberculosis patients and research, has taken over the opening night of the magnificent "Ice Capades of 1953" at the Chicago Arena Monday night, March 23, through its Chicago business men's club. The City of Hope receives all the net proceeds of the evening, according to Bill Margolis, who is chairman of the benefit.

The City of Hope whose Chicago headquarters are located at 127 N. Dearborn st., is selling these seats at regular box office prices on a first come, first served basis. Prices are $4.50, $3.80 and $3.10.

Ticket requests with check or money order enclosed, addressed to the City of Hope at 127 N. Dearborn st., will save the sender a trip to the box office.

In The Future

Next fall's corn harvest will find a combined picker-sheller in the field, capable of driving between two rows of standing corn and pouring their kernels into an accompanying wagon. . . . A cloth chemically treated to wipe dust-attracting static electricity off phonograph records, table tops and TV screens will be available as soon as the manufacturer fills heavy industrial orders. . . . Small TV stations will be able to rent costly transmitting tubes instead of buying them outright, a big maker promises. . . . Doll shoes made of molded plastic come in six sizes, to fit dolls from 13 to 25 inches tall. . . . Merchants are offered a thin gold ribbon, which can be written through with pen or pencil and pasted on to personalize small articles with their buyers' names or initials. . . . An air-filter checker-upper to be unveiled at the Heating Show just beginning in Chicago, tells how much dirt the filter has removed.

At Orchestra Hall

William Kapell, distinguished pianist whose recent recital was a highlight of the Chicago music season, will be soloist with the Chicago symphony orchestra this week, under the baton of associate conductor George Schick, in the subscription concerts at Orchestra Hall.

Rafael Kubelik, presently guest conductor of the famed Concertgebouw Orchestra in Amsterdam during his mid-winter vacation period, will return to the Orchestra Hall podium next week.

In an all-Brahms program at the Tuesday afternoon, February 10, concert, Kapell will be heard in Brahms' First Piano Concerto, D Minor (Opus 15) and at the Thursday evening-Friday afternoon (February 12 and 13) midweek pair, Kapell will perform the Rachmaninoff Concerto No. 2, C. Minor (Opus 18).

Local Taxes Small Part Of Tax Bite

Illinois State Chamber of Commerce has issued a bulletin that compares with local taxes. The estimated burden for each family because of the 78.6 million dollars spending budget submitted to Congress January 9. Cook county share of the federal budget is 3½ billion dollars. Local taxes are 1/3 of a billion which means that the taxes paid for local government is less than 1/10 of what Uncle Sam takes out of the pocketbooks of Cook county resident.

DuPage county U. S. tax burden is given as 93 million, while local taxes are 11 million, or about eight per cent of the amount that would be paid to Uncle Sam.

Many people kick about local taxes and do not say a word to our congressmen or our senators regarding the much greater amount that the federal government is spending.

State Chamber President Gordon M. Jones declared that Federal spending of 78.6 billion dollars as proposed in the Federal budget will average $678 for each man, woman and child in Illinois, or $2,712 for each family of four persons. He also pointed out that this burden of federal spending would be more than five times the combined total of all taxes of the State of Illinois plus property taxes for cities, counties, schools and all other units of local government in Illinois.

According to President Jones, whether the Federal spending estimates will be reduced or not will depend upon the action Congress takes on individual appropriation measures. Each billion dollars by which spending can be reduced will mean a cut of 75.2 million dollars in the burden Illinois must shoulder.

It is now the "Culligan Company." Raymond Chmelik, who owns Culligan Soft Water, Mt. Prospect, has felt for a long time that the name "Culligan" has become recognized as synominous to "soft water" and that the word "Zeolite" was just an extra word. Officers of the parent company may or may not have been converted by Chmelik, but they recently also eliminated the "Zeolite" from their name. President Harold F. Werhane is giving his approval to the "scratchout."

Low Title Insurance Fee Eases Open-End Home Loan

Easier credit for home improvements is now available to many home-owners through the "open-end" mortgage because of a decrease in the cost of title insurance by at least one title insurance company that operates nation-wide.

An open-end mortgage provides for the advance of additional money to pay for home improvements. In effect, this is a home improvement loan at a lower rate of interest than is generally available in any other way.

The extra money advanced is made part of the original mortgage and added to the balance owed. The whole sum then is paid off by increased monthly payments, or payments are kept the same and the life of the mortgage is extended.

THE OPEN-END mortgage itself is now new, but until recent months the cost of a new title search has been so high that the advantage of open-end mortgage procedure has been largely nullified.

But now City Title Insurance Co., New York, has announced that for $5 per $1,000 (with a minimum fee of $10) it will insure a title for any additional advance on a first mortgage so long as the total of the unpaid balance and the additional advance does not exceed the mortgage's original amount. This is an all-inclusive charge, covering abstract of title and opinion of counsel as well as the title search.

The company does not make a new title search. Instead, it simply accepts the home-owner's affidavit that no liens have been placed on the property since the mortgage went into effect.

Under this new procedure, home-owners will have less difficulty obtaining long-term loans for reroofing and other exterior work and for kitchen equipment, plumbing and heating, flooring and similar interior improvements.

Interest Rate Unchanged

AS AN example, assume that the roof on a house is worn out and that the owner also would like to remodel the kitchen. A new fire-resistant asphalt shingle roof, which could be applied directly on top of the old material, might cost $250, and the kitchen remodeling might cost $1,000. The owner would want to borrow $1,250.

If his mortgage institution agrees, the home-owner could have $1,250 added to his existing mortgage without expensive title insurance. The existing interest rate, perhaps 4 or 4½ per cent, would apply. At rates he could afford, the owner then would have a new weathertight, attractive asphalt shingle roof and up-to-date kitchen equipment.

Rubber Sidewalk Begins To Move In Museum Of Science

The world's first moving rubber sidewalk, a possible solution to the problem of transporting a large number of people at a continuous rate through congested areas, went into operation Tuesday at Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry. More than two million visitors a year will have the opportunity to ride on this first installation.

John L. Collyer, president of the B. F. Goodrich company, and Major Lenox R. Lohr, president of the Museum of Science and Industry, took the first ride on the new sidewalk, which is part of the company's extensive exhibit, the "Story of Rubber."

"Although this first moving sidewalk will be used only to transport people through a part of the Museum exhibit," Collyer said, "this mode of travel is a practical means of transporting rapidly and efficiently vast numbers of people in crowded areas."

Collyer pointed out that moving sidewalks, coupled with escalators, may be the answer to the safe, efficient movement of people relatively short distances. "Indoor moving sidewalks also have possibilities for use in large buildings such as airline, bus and railroad terminals where pedestrian traffic is exceptionally heavy," he said. The exhibit sidewalk is constructed of fabric and rubber, the bottom ply being designed to afford excellent sliding abrasion resistance.

Company Solves Parking Problem

Sociologists have had lots of fun with "peck order" in the barnyard, since they observed that one hen is able to peck all those "below" her, No. 2 pecks all but No. 1, and so on. As if to provide much-needed reassurance of the superiority of human beings to other animal life, one company has systematized the claims of its employees to parking space, so that there need be no battling over the peck order of fender-fighters.

The oldest-on-the-payroll driver gets the parking space closest to the factory door. In case of a tie, the man who brings other employees with him gets a closer spot then the one who drives alone, and the man who drives every day gets a break over the one who uses his own car only in bad weather.

Each of the 522 lots has an employee's nameplate. It's expensive, but the company says it's worth it.

Federal Food To Schools For Lunches

Seven million pounds of food have been donated to Illinois by the federal government. The food is used to help public and private schools of the state provide lunches for children at low cost. Wolfe said the food includes about 23 pounds of turkey, pork, eggs, cheese, fruits and vegetables for each of the 400,000 students being fed at the 3500 schools cooperating in the school lunch program.

Illinois has received about six pounds of turkey for each student in the lunch programs this school year, a total of 1,914,000 pounds. In addition, Illinois has received a half a million pounds of dried milk and 389,400 dozen shell eggs, 245,000 pounds of bacon, 630,000 of ham and 330,000 of picnic shoulders. Other foods received are beans, cheese, canned grapefruit, cherries, and peaches, peanut butter, canned tomatoes, peas and dried eggs.

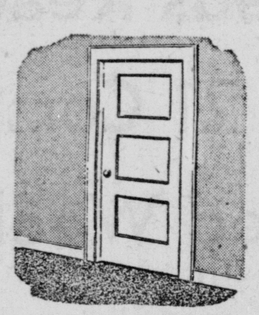
WHAT'S THE SECRET?

Haven't you often walked into a room and sensed immediately that something was wrong? A discordant note that you couldn't quite put your finger on? Viewed individually, the window treatment was attractive, the color scheme carefully worked out, the furniture well-chosen and functional. What the room lacked, probably was . . .



COORDINATION

Without coordination of color, of plan, a room loses its sense of unity, and the various elements vie with each other for importance. Avoid this common error by advance planning. In a bedroom, for instance, let the bedspread inspire the window treatment. Keep the number of colors to a minimum — three at the most.

Just Around The Corner

from PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

Bob and I drove into Evanston the other evening to see the play, "Good Housekeeping," at the Showcase theatre. This theatre, originally the Stadium motion picture theatre, was founded only last year by Miss Hope Summers, a TV, radio, and summer stock performer, and so far has been having a fairly successful season.

Most of the performers are semi-professionals from summer stock companies, Chicago television and radio programs. However, recently Patsy Kelly was here for the lead in "My Sister Eileen," and as I understand it, Showcase Theatre hopes to import more professionals for leads in future plays.

THE PLOT OF "GOOD HOUSEKEEPING" was concerned with a university president who, though seeming satisfied with his position, is persuaded by his wife and two daughters to run for governor against a political boss and his machine, who has been running the community and even dictating policy to some of the university officials.

The many little trials that come up in the family, such as adolescent Katy being too tall in her high heels for her boyfriend, Mrs. Burnett, an efficient and intelligent mother, formerly in politics, trying to get along with the new maid who is aggressive and overbearing, and twenty year old Christine trying to remain loyal to both her father and her fiance (instigator of the "Mr. Burnett for president" movement), all provide amusing dialogue.

THE PLAY GOT OFF to a slow start, and it was not until the second act that either the dialogue or the action gathered momentum — and interest.

As Mrs. Burnett, Barbara Foley was a Katherine Hepburn type wife and mother — falling naturally into most of her sophisticated and subtle-humored lines to her husband, but being far less convincing in her mother-daughter scenes. As Mr. Burnett, the university president, Hugh Rennie was entertaining, and the pretty, twenty year old daughter, Christine, was overplayed by Betty Jean McGregor.

The scene stealer was, without a doubt, dynamic, little red-haired Pat Stedman who portrayed Katy Burnett, the eighteen year old daughter, whose problem with her boyfriend seemed to become the most tumultuous of the play!

I think the idea behind the Showcase Theatre is an excellent one, for we certainly have a need for this type of theatre outside of Chicago. Such a large portion of the Chicagoland population lives miles from the "loop," and surely many of these people would enjoy seeing plays, if they just didn't have to travel so far.

Maybe there's a theatre in your town, Peg, that is no longer being used for motion pictures. If so, why not investigate the idea of opening its doors for stage productions. We all enjoy the summer stock theatre, so why not bring it indoors for the winter?

My love,
Patty

New Ideas In Homes

Because of its rectangular shape and straight gable roof, this plan is an economical type to build, with a minimum of cutting and framing. It consists of a full basement, attached garage, living room, combination kitchen-dinette and two bedrooms.

Exterior finish is wide siding with asphalt shingles. Plans provide for a brick planting area.

Other features include casement windows, fireplace with book shelves, linen closet, an efficient kitchen arrangement and closets at each entrance. Bedroom closets are the wardrobe type with overhead storage.

Floor area is 936 sq. ft. with cubage of 17,550 cu. ft.

• IT'S CORNFLOWER

That's what statice is — the mystery plant that Bill DePue has been advertising from down there in Florida. The old fashioned everlasting cornflower.

Who ever heard of raising that as a commercial crop? But evidentally they do it down there in that sunshine country where they do a lot of things that we folks up here don't know anything about. Anyhow, at last we know what statice is. It's a mystery no longer.

• FALSE STATMENTS

The Chicago press one day last week quoted state's attorney John Gutknecht as saying that the range of delinquency in the Cook county townships ranged from 98% in Palatine township to 20% in Hanover township on personal property taxes.

Why the state's attorney of Cook county, supposedly a responsible officer, should make such a statement, isn't quite clear. Evidently the state's attorney was quoting figures released a few weeks ago by the Civic Federation, and those figures were a mile from the truth. Anyone would think that an officer such as the state's attorney of Cook county would be half way sure of his facts before blowing off to the press.

The state's attorney could have had actual figures, by merely contacting the auditing department of the county treasurer where he could have gotten the exact figures, but no, he apparently quoted false and irresponsible figures released by the Civic Federation, and thereby held Palatine township up to the ridicule of the world as the greatest tax dodging township in Cook county, which it isn't, and would lead people who did pay their personal property tax to wonder where their payment went to if 98% were delinquent.

Well, folks, those figures are all wrong. Those of you who paid personal property taxes are properly marked paid on the tax books of Cook county. The Civic Federation, and the state's attorney are in the position of blowing off with a lot of loose talk and false figures about a subject about which they knew nothing and about which they were apparently too lazy to get the real facts.

A fine position for a newly elected state's attorney to place himself in when a little check up on actual figures would have shown him what the truth really was.

• SOUTHERN TREK

It begins to look as if half of Palatine will be down in Florida sunning themselves before the winter is over. Charley Folkerts and family pulled out for Naples, Florida, Wednesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Haseman took a plane Saturday morning for the same place and are expected to beat the Folkerts to their destination. Ed told "Buckets" that he'd be waiting for him with a gin rummy deck all ready.

Monday morning the Stanley Arndt family and Lena, boss of Palatine drug, also took off for Naples, so there will be a regular Palatine colony down in that southern Florida resort city by now.

With the other local residents who are scattered around the state, there are a goodly number of Palatine folks taking advantage of the sunshine state this winter.

• MORE ON STATICE

It never rains, but it pours. Just as we hear from Bill DePue about statice, along came police chief Frank Meyer with a definition of the plant taken from his botanical library.

Here is what Frank produced:

Statice (spelled with one T) —also called sealavender—is a cup shaped flower similar to baby's breath. It can be dried and kept for winter decoration. Colors: Yellow, blue, rose, white. Statice latifolia has fine panicles covered with a profusion of small blue or lavender flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer are great students of flowers, shrubs, etc. and they planned the plantings at their home after a careful study of the growing habits of the various flowers and shrubs to get a continuity of blooms and a proper blending of colors. The result is that their home out in the country has become a show place of floral culture and horticultural beauty. And when it comes to raising berries, they are also right on the ball as those big luscious strawberries and raspberries will attest.

• TOWNSHIP STICKERS

The Palatine township auto stickers given to residents of the township outside of the village through the courtesy of the township officials are being picked up by residents of the township in goodly numbers. The stickers help the autoist to identify his residence to police officers of cities and villages and saves them a lot of inconvenience in being questioned about vehicle tags.

These stickers are free for the asking through the compliments of your township officials. They are available at the Wm. H. DePue real estate office and the office of village clerk, E. P. Steinbrinck.

• THEY NEVER QUIT

One thing can be said about the Palatine business men who are athletically inclined — they never quit. They are bears for punishment sure enough.

With the memory of that grand shellacking they got last summer in softball at the hands of the girls team, those birds have come right back and challenged the girls to a basketball game and the game is on.

It will be played at the high school March 28, and if it should be played on that new big gym floor, we don't quite know what the boys are going to do for wind.

With all the tall six footers among the business men, manager Chuck Moore is chuckling to himself about what his team is going to do to the girls this trip, but we heard Chuck do a lot of chuckling before that softball game too. He even scouted the girls' practice and didn't see anything to scare him, but when the teams got on the field he saw plenty.

History could repeat itself you know, Chuck, don't sell those sprightly girls short in this basketball business.

• SIGNS

"When February's sun shines cold
There comes a day when in the air,
The Wings of winter slowly unfold.
And show the golden summer there."

So said the poet, and we often see those days during February, but this year a typical day of that description came along last Friday, January 30, when, after a light, feathery snow fall the night before, the sun shone bright against the snow on Friday giving out a comforting warmth that really did remind a person of the warm summer days ahead when the baseball teams will be in action and the horses will be thrilling thousands at Arlington Park.

• LATE RUSH

With the state prepared to start the drive on state auto licenses about March 1st, business at the Chicago license bureau of the secretary of state is reported to be very slow, and the number of licenses issued far behind last year's figures at the same period.

The license pick up service operated by Clarence Berlin of the DePue real estate office in Palatine has been doing a brisk service for auto owners. The Berlin service also makes pick ups for certain places in Barrington and Arlington Heights as well as taking care of Palatine people.

• EARLY BIRDS

And by that we don't mean the ones that come early in the spring, but the feathered gentry who get up early every morning and start chirping around the feeding grounds, just as the first faint tint of day shows in the eastern sky.

It's been a pretty easy winter on the birds so far, but where they know they have been fed for years, they'll show up looking for a handout just the same, and their noisy chirping greets each new day with as much noise as the spring birds will make when they get here.

The sparrows and starlings seem to be the earliest risers, and they are the first to be heard in the early morning with bluejays and occasional cardinals coming along a little later.

It won't be many weeks now before the early arriving spring birds will be joining the chorus of the regular winter inhabitants.

• FROM OREGON

It's a far flight from the mountain view farm of John Godknecht way out there in Oregon to Schoppe's store in Palatine, but when John out there on the ranch needs a good winter jacket to keep off the chill winds from the Oregon mountains, he knows where to come to get such a jacket, back to Palatine and his old friend, Harry Schoppe.

When John was back here on a visit last fall, he spotted just the sort of jacket that he needed out there on the ranch, but he supposed, of course, that he could get the same thing or practically the same thing out around home. But when he got back home and started out to get the kind of a jacket he wanted, he found none of the stores out there carried any as good as the one he'd seen at Schoppe's, so what does he do but write to Harry telling him to send the sort of jacket he wanted.

Harry sent the garment and back comes a letter from John saying it was just the thing he wanted and that it is serving a fine purpose keeping him warm and comfortable out there in the Oregon winter.

John had so many places to go and so much to do when he was here that he didn't get time to visit some of his old friends as much as he desired, but now that he has broken the ice and made a trip to Palatine, he's threatening to do it more often in the future and take more time to visit around.

Chicago's Proposal For Sales Tax Boost May Benefit Communities

Chicago City Council is sending to Springfield suggested legislation for an increase in the occupational tax from 2 to 2.5% with the increase going to the municipality where collected. It also suggests the elimination of the present cigarette vendors' license fee of $120 and replacing it with a tax of one cent on each pack of cigarettes sold within Chicago.

Nothing is said in the news release whether the sales tax increase would apply to the entire state or just Chicago. If enacted as a state measure, each municipality would receive the increase which should release some of the tax burden now on real estate.

If the bill is presented to the state legislature, school interests may ask that they be allowed to have a "finger in the pie."

Not In Politics

In the January 29 issue of the Mount Prospect Herald, an item appeared stating the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post would sponsor three candidates for office of trustee.

This statement was not made or authorized by the local post. The VFW is a national organization of which Prospect Post 1337 is only a small part. They cannot and do not intend to sponsor any party or parties for political or public office at any time.

In making this statement, I am hoping to clear the local VFW of any political affiliations as previously stated.

City Manager

When Attorney Frank Opeka spoke negatively about the idea of a city-manager it rated headlines in the Palatine Enterprise.

I repeat my stand on the matter of a city-manager for Palatine: we can either have village business details handled in a manner where everybody's business is nobody's business or we must concentrate responsibility and authority to carry out the policies set by the village board. If we choose to go further, university-trained professionals in municipal administration are available just as superintendents for our school systems are trained in education and administration.

Will we remain apathetic until we have serious problems or will we study the proposition of a village manager objectively and work for more efficient business administration in municipal affairs?

It is up to the citizens of this community to express themselves directly or through their elected representatives.

Conflict Of Interests

I wonder if the following thoughts have occured to other residents of Arlington Heights. This refers to the newly announced candidate for mayor of this village.

Any individual who owns and actively manages a substantial automobile agency and, according to announcements, plans to construct a large shopping center naturally may have a great deal of personal resources invested in these enterprises as well as in other real estate.

Is it not likely that in the course of duty as mayor, a decision may result in either a benefit to the village (to the detriment of his business) or vice-versa? This may never occur; however, is it not only human and natural to protect one's personal wealth, and as a result not be in a position to give an impartial opinion?

It is recognized that a great deal of executive ability is required to successfully conduct these business enterprises — and this attribute is one of many qualifications for mayor. However, does this permit sufficient time and energy to impartially and independently fulfill the duties of the office as mayor?

I, personally, would dislike being in a position of making a decision which may be subject to criticism as the result of a dual role as a public official and having personal interests involved. The recent position of Defense Secretary, Charles E. Wilson, best illustrates my thoughts.

So that these thoughts may not be misconstrued, let me add that: I have no political aspirations now or in the future, and hold no political office; I have no business or financial interests in the village, outside of owning my home here, as I am employed outside the village; and I am not financially interested in or personally backing any candidate for any office.

Boy Babies Only?

I have been an ardent reader of the Paddock Publications for many years and I thoroughly enjoy every column it contains. However, there is one thing that appears every now and then that I think could well be omitted. That is the announcements of babies born forty and fifty years ago in the "Way Back When" news.

Many of those babies are still living in Palatine, and as we all agree, "No woman ever gets past forty." Many of those same babies of either sex are very touchy about betraying their ages, and would rather not have it made known, especially those fifty year old babes who will admit being forty.

Thus divulging their most cherished secret is rather embarrassing and annoying, even though it is interesting news.

A Babe,

(Editor's Note — You are right. Hereafter any births published will be of the boy babies only).

Future Residents

I would like to subscribe to the Arlington Heights Herald and am enclosing a check.

We plan to make Arlington Heights our home upon being discharged from the air force in June, and I shall begin my dental practice there. We feel the best way to get to know one's town is to read the local newspaper, and we aim to be real "Arlinyton Heighters" by the time we get there.

Cook County Board May Tackle Drainage Problem In Rural Areas

An area-wide attack on chronic flooding of residential areas in Cook county gained headway last week as a county board committee ordered a study of state and federal participation in the plan.

Commissioner Duffy pointed out that the county board is receiving numerous complaints of flooding. "It's a serious problem, but the power of the county board is limited by law. I think we should lay our cards on the table and let the people know what we can do and what we can't do. There is no sense in receiving complaints, week after week, and not letting them know how far we can go without being stopped by legal restrictions."

The problems facing the board stem from several conditions. Chief among these are the undeniable facts that water flows downhill and roofs and streets are designed to shed water.

The rapid build up of residential and industrial areas in the suburbs in recent years has brought more roofs and roads and reduced the amount of farmland to absorb rainwater as it falls. Existing creeks have been unable to carry the rapid flow of water from built up areas and overflow their banks.

The tri-county drainage authority proposed by the highway department would take this condition into consideration. As currently proposed, it would exempt Chicago property owners from paying taxes to develop drainage projects for suburban areas. However, considerable objections are expected to develop in county towns such as Evanston and Oak Park where there is a heavy property assessment and local drainage systems in general are functioning adequately.

It is expected that the study of possibilities of bringing in the state and federal governments to pay part of the cost will last until April, at which time drafting of legislation for presentation in Springfield will be brought near completion.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Once, when my boy was about 8, we were hiking across country. Stopping beside a large rock, he looked at it for a long moment, then turned to me and asked:

"Dad, what holds a rock together?"

For a moment I was at a loss to reply; then I said:

"It is the attraction of the particles in the rock for one another."

"Then a rock is alive," he said thoughtfully. "It doesn't know it is alive, and we don't think about it as being alive, but it is, just the same."

A LITTLE GIRL of 6 was watching the clouds drifting overhead, while I was picking up a load of mail from my relay box.

"You know what, Lee?" she asked. "You know what clouds look like sometimes?"

"No, what, Alice?"

"Like big puffs of smoke from a giant's pipe."

A GROUP of people were standing at the top of the American falls in New York, watching them in silence. Suddenly a little girl of probably 5 or 6 said, as though to herself:

PHILOSOPHY, nature appreciation and wisdom dwell in the unspoiled minds of little children. Beautiful dreams, seen with a clarity, a vividness of imagination that astounds and surprises us in their depth of meaning. Their approach is direct, uninhibited and free. The beauty of a child's thoughts lies in their simplicity. We look at things they look at, but miss by so much seeing the things they see. My son, no doubt, could see life at work in that rock. Little Alice saw a giant, puffing at his pipe. The second little girl saw the torments of damnation in a waterfall.

Life will dull their imaginations, restrict their philosophies, confine their thoughts. Their minds will be bent to the urge for material gain. They will soon grow cynical, drab, conventional. I sometimes think: "Do they not lose the gold of life, and gain only the dross?"

Record Cow

With 661 pounds of butterfat and 15,568 pounds of milk, testing 4.2%, to her credit, Creekdale Ollie Susa, a registered Holstein-Friesian cow owned by the Missionary Sisters Servants of the Holy Ghost, Techny, has completed a 315-day production test in official Herd Improvement Registry.

She was milked 3 times daily and was 3 years 9 months of age when she began her testing period.

Her record averages approximately 23 quarts of milk daily for the period covered by her test.

Maintenance Of Soil Number One Job For Farmers

The number one problem for Cook county farmers not only in 1953, but in years ahead is the care and maintenance of the soil on the farm they operate. The surface six inches of soil is our only natural resource and on it depends our own prosperity and that of our city friends. Someone has said that our soil is like a checking account at the bank — you cannot keep withdrawing funds without putting some back.

Your first step in an intelligent land use program is to get a soil test. Find out what your basic needs are for limestone, phosphate and potash.

Too heavy applications are not only costly but getting minerals out of balance may cut down effectiveness of your program.

Amounts of commercial fertilizer available are not high; and when you waste some, you are depriving your neighbor who needs it and is unable to obtain it.

YOUR NEXT step is to plan a crop rotation using at least 25% of the land in stand over legumes and grasses. If that is not possible, every one seeded to oats should have a clover catch crop to plow under. In order to increase income from hay and pasture, livestock may enter your program.

Your needs of a rotation are great from the standpoint of soil fertility and for humus content. Humus added to soil increases its fertility, warmth, water holding capacity, and water absorbing capacity. Humus cannot be purchased in a sack of commercial fertilizer but is found in crop residue, green manures, and barnyard manure.

Your next step is to check washes on your farm by establishing grass waterways and contour planting where needed. PMA gives financial aid for these practices.

Farm buying power has gone down 40% in the last ten years, being at its best in 1943. Falling farm profits challenges us to increase our efficiency on the individual farm. The best farms in the county provide twice the yields per acre of our poorer farms.

Let's keep the production high on the good farms and raise our standards on the poor farms. Let's farm each acre according to its productive capacity. Good land use practices could double our income from farming in Cook county.

Milk Accounts For 20% Of Total Food Consumed

The most widely used food, milk, including dairy products comprises more than 20 per cent of the foods purchased annually by the average American. Sixty million quarts of fresh milk and cream a day are distributed to consumers through doorstep deliveries and stores. Milk consumption today is more than 12 per cent greater than before the war.

Products from dairy farms were about 20 per cent of 1951 farm cash income excluding government payments; one and a half times hogs; three times wheat; nearly twice times poultry and eggs; more than twice times cotton; more than 5 times tobacco. The cash farm value of products from dairy farms far exceed the produce of any other other type farms.

Production Line Chicks? Of Course . . .

That's the Way This Farmer Raises 'Em

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

You can write your own headline for this farm electrification chat. And, maybe, you'll call it "How to Become a Big Farm Operator in Three Easy Lessons." For that, approximately, is what your farm electrification reporter may be accused of as he describes a visit to a "production-line" poultry farm near Albany, New York.

Driving up the lane we see a two-story poultry house constructed of concrete blocks, with super-structure of wood. It is 30 feet wide and 200 feet long. Included is a 15x30 foot feed room. In this structure are produced annually 60,000 broilers and from 10,000 to 12,000 pullets of egg-laying strain. Sounds like work, but chores are reduced to a minimum by electrical equipment and an ingenious arrangement of ground and second floor pens.

Day-old chicks are started in pens next to the feed room on the second floor. When 15 days old, they are moved to an adjoining pen; when 29 days old, to a third pen, and when six weeks old, to the last second-floor pen. Here the pullets and cockrels are separated and moved down a chute to the ground floor, where each group is placed in a separate series of pens on either side of the house. They advance from pen to pen, remaining in each for one week. At the end of 12 to 13 weeks, the broilers are marketed, and the laying stock moved back to a large pen on the second floor to mature. At this time, the whole cycle starts over again with some 3,000 replacements beginning life in the starting pens.

Adequate space is provided for each age group by alloting ¼ square foot per chick for the first 2 weeks, and increasing the space to ¾ of a square foot each at 8 weeks, and to nearly 1½ square feet each at 12 weeks. Pens are formed by movable panels, which are raised to permit passage of birds from one pen to another.

Chicks are brooded by infra-red lamps overhead, and soil heating cable imbedded in the floor. Thus, chickens move about, eat and sleep on a warm, dry floor, with an "electric light blanket" over them. Infra-red lights are located 18 inches above the litter for the starting chicks and raised two inches in each successive pen until a maximum of 24 inches is reached. Radiant heating keeps the litter dry in the brooding area. Overhead, and under-floor heat does away with hovers and permits the farmer to inspect the flock regularly.

Christmas Trees Could Be Good Illinois Farm Crop

If you have some odd acres on your farm that don't fit into your general farming plan, how about raising some Christmas trees?

More than two million Christmas trees passed through Illinois markets this year, says Ralph Lorenz, forester at the Illinois college of agriculture. While most of these trees came from other states and Canada, there is no reason why most of the annual Christmas tree needs couldn't come from Illinois.

ABOUT 20,000 acres would be needed to put Christmas tree production on a sustained basis to fill the total need in this state, Lorenz figures. It should be easy to find the 20,000 acres out of the three million acres in the state which is better suited to growing trees than to any other purpose.

There were about a dozen different varieties of trees for sale in Illinois this year. Balsam and Douglas fir and black spruce made up about 90 per cent of all these sales. Others included red, white, jack, Scotch and Virginia pine and Norway and white spruce. All of these varieties except balsam fir and black spruce will grow well in Illinois.

YOU'LL NEED 2,722 trees an acre with the Christmas trees in your plantation spaced four feet apart in 4-foot rows. Cut back volunteer hardwood growth as it appears and cut tall weeds so that the growing trees will develop a good shape. If you leave your trees to nature, as many as half of them may not be salable. A little simple hand pruning would make 25 percent more salable.

Red, white, jack and Scotch pine will do well on the sand lands of central and northern Illinois. Douglas fir and Norway spruce will need better soil. Ask your county farm adviser for a price list of trees available from state nurseries.

Dairying Fast Changing Biz In Illinois

The dairy business has been one of the fastest changing industries in Illinois in recent years, according to a University of Illinois agricu tural economist.

One of the important changes, reports G. C. Kleiman, is the rapid shift to Grade A milk. There are now about 15,000 Grade A producers in the state, and more than 85 per cent of the fluid milk being sold to consumers is Grade A.

Along with this change we have seen steady progress toward Bang's-free herds, Kleiman said. Illinois law requires that all Grade A herds must be 100 per cent Bang's free by 1955.

ANOTHER important change has been the decline in dairying in Il inois. The state has dropped from 5th to 9th place in dairy production in the past few years. mainly because of relatively high incomes from other farm products.

A fourth trend in Illinois, and in the United States in general, is toward more cows per herd and higher production per cow, but fewer dairy farms. An average of 60,000 pounds of milk was produced per farm in 1944, and annual production is now up to about 71,000 pounds.

These are only several of the many changes in progress, Kleiman points out. Many others have been taking place in the marketing phases of the dairy industry, including the increase in proportion of milk sold as whole milk and the decrease in sales of cream, the decline in number of dairy plants and the rapid trend to store sales, which now account for about two-thirds of all whole fresh milk sold to consumers.

Hogs Top Livestock Income In Illinois

Hogs really "brought home the bacon" to Illinois farmers in the years 1941-51, according to figures compiled by S. W. Terrill, head of the swine division in the Illinois college of agriculture.

They easily led all livestock enterprises during the decade, and accounted for one-fourth of the income farmers took in from the sale of livestock products, and field and horticultural crops.

Terrill's survey showed that all livestock products accounted for 64 per cent of this total income.

Cattle and calves ranked second as a source of livestock income, with 17 per cent, followed by dairy, 12 per cent; poultry, 9 per cent; and sheep, 1 per cent.

A further breakdown of figures for the 10-year period showed that field crops sold off the farm accounted for 34 per cent of the total income, and horticulturt products the remaining 2 per cent.

Frost Inside Barns Sign Of Poor Ventilation

If frost collects on the inside walls or ceiling of your dairy or beef barn you have a ventilation problem that you should correct.

The animals that you keep inside the barn will be healthier with good ventilation and the building will provide years more service if it's kept dry inside, says J. T. Clayton, extension farm structures specialist at the Illinois college of agriculture.

AIR INSIDE a "tight" barn housing livestock has a high moisture content because the animals are constantly giving off moisture. When this relatively warm, moist air contacts cold, uninsulated surfaces it condenses and forms frost if the surface is below freezing.

You can keep the frost out of barns by removing the moisture-laden air before the frost has a chance to form and replacing it with drier outside air. Use either ventilating fans to move the air, or open windows on the south or east sides of the building.

IF YOU USE a ventilating fan it is important that you use the right size and put it in the right place, Clayton points out. Your local power use adviser will be able to help you locate the fan and get the right size.

One or two large openings will work best if you plan natural ventilation, but place them so that they will not set up cross currents and create drafts. You can control the air movement better if these opening have adjustable doors. You can cut down drafts if you put the openings only along one side of the building.

4-H Girl To Work In India

Miss Florence A. Kimmelshue, member of the state 4-H home economics club staff since 1937, reports Feb. 1 to begin two years of work on the staff of the Allahabad agricultural institute in India.

In India, Miss Kimmelshue's job emphasis will be on teaching girls who attend the institute to carry their home economics training out to the women in the Indian villages. This training will follow the present system of home economics extension work being carried on in this country and being developed in India and other countries.

Miss Kimmelshue expects that her home economics teaching will be different in India from what it has been in the United States, with more emphasis on sanitation and nutrition. Allahabad, location of the institute, is situated about halfway between Calcutta and New Delhi, on the Ganges river. Students at the institute speak English, so there will be no language barrier there.

A native of Manteno in Will county, Miss Kimmelshue helped to organize the first rural girls' club that was supervised by state extension people in Illinois in 1912. This organization was the forerunner of today's 4-H home economics clubs which were started about 1914.

In that early club's second year, Miss Kimmelshue became its leader. She attended Monmouth college, later receiving her A. B. degree from the University of Illinois and a master's degree from the University of Chicago. She has also taken post-graduate work in dietetics at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago.

She taught high school home economics in Indiana and Illinois for nine years. Then she was assistant home adviser in Kankakee county and home adviser in Lake county for five years. Since joining the state 4-H staff, she has specialized in 4-H clothing training schools. She has also been serving as 4-H home economics club supervisor for the northern 20 counties of Illinois.

Soil Conditioners Reduce Draft On The Plow

Draft on the plow was reduced by about 25 per cent on test plots at the Urban experiment station of the Illinois college of agriculture where the soil had previously been treated with krilium soil conditioner.

Since the plow pulled much easier, it was possible to save plowing time by traveling faster and to save fuel because of the lighter load, according to H. P. Bateman and G. E. Pickard, agricultural engineers at the college who conducted the tests.

RESEARCHERS ALSO needed less time and power to prepare the seedbed, since the soil broke up into a mellow condition that was suitable for planting. Soil conditioners have the effect of preventing clods from forming at the time of plowing.

Surface soil on the treated plots also looked drier after rains last summer and fall than that on untreated plots. However, there was very little difference in soil moisture, according to the tests. The difference in drying rates was due to increased rate of evaporation rather than increased drainage.

Krilium does not affect the soil below plow depth unless the soil at that depth has been actually treated. The conditioner does not leach downward.

THE SMALL increase in corn yields on the treated plots was not large enough to pay for the cost of treatment, Bateman and Pickard point out. There was less lodging, resulting in less loss at picking time.

Soil conditioners are still too expensive to be practical on farm fields, the engineer says. Rates of application on the test plots ranged from 500 to 2,000 pounds an acre. Small amounts of conditioner at present cost about $1.50 a pound. If you want to try some, use a small amount of it in your garden, greenhouse or on your lawn.

Farm Vehicles Must Have Head And Tail Light

Farmers who are heavy users of state highways have at least two good reasons for understanding and observing motor vehicle laws as they apply to movement of farm vehicles—to avoid accidental injury or death and to avoid liability.

H. W. Hannah, farm legal authority in the Illinois college of agriculture explained that Illinois law excuses farm vehicles and implements on the highway from most of the rules applying to other vehicles, such as size, weight and slow speed restrictions.

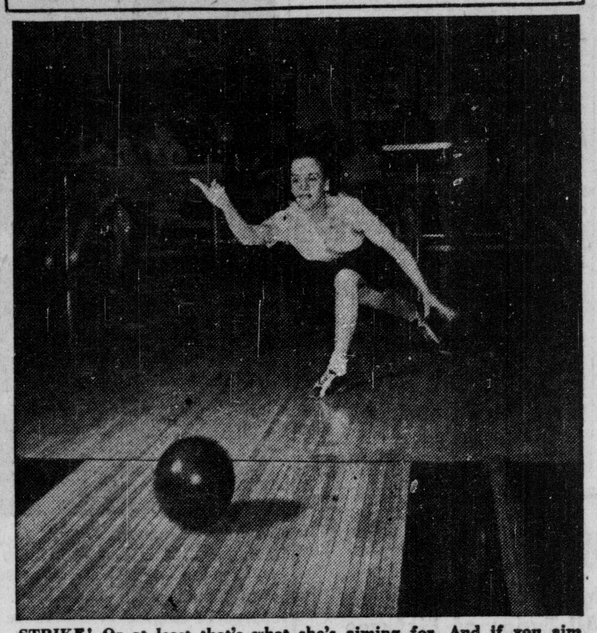
One very important law does apply, however. In effect, it says that all farm vehicles and tractors must have at least one white headlight and one red taillight, both visible from at least 500 feet. And if a farmer unnecessarily blocks traffic or creates a dangerous condition on the highway, he may be liable to other persons.

In performing their duties, the state highway police must make decisions on how certain provisions of the vehicle code apply. Hannah says that even if the farmer questions a decision it is always best to comply with the directions of the officer, and raise any objections later with the proper officials.

More Fish For Less

There should be plenty of fish — fresh, frozen or canned — available to shoppers in 1953, with prices somewhat lower than in 1952.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD



STRIKE! Or at least that's what she's aiming for. And if you aim your camera at a subject like this, you're sure to make a hit with the resulting snapshot.

Winter Sports—Indoors and Out

THE mention of "winter sports" usually inspires us to mental images of graceful skiers flying down snow encrusted slopes . . . of ice skaters in gay costume gliding through a succession of turns and twirls . . . of toboggans loaded with laughing people.

But when it comes both to sport and picture taking, let's not forget the indoor variety that are truly a part of the winter sports schedule. Basketball and ice hockey draw spectators by the thousands, and the thrill packed action that packs in the crowds offers exciting picture possibilities for the fan who carries a camera.

On the less strenuous but more personal side, let's not overlook bowling. Here with a camera that's equipped for synchronized flash, you can take snapshots of your friends having a good time. And, as I've written many times before, there is no better time for getting outstanding natural snapshots of people than when they are having a good time. Take your camera on your next bowling night and line up some good shots of the various members of your team. But be sure it is the pictures you line up, and not the people. You want to picture them in action. Snap one as he selects the ball from the rack. Another as he sizes up the pin situation. Catch a third one as he releases the ball.

A close-up of a score sheet that has recorded some outstanding marks is a picture you can get a lot of fun out of having and showing.

Of course, you'll have to have extra prints made of these pictures, because the other members of your team will certainly want them.

Make use of your camera in sports activities whether you are a participant or spectator, whether it's outdoors or in. You'll get pictures that will add sparkle to your album.

—John Van Guilder

Stable Or Higher Prices Seen On Sale Of Farms

City dwellers responding to that yen for a small farm in close-in rural areas during the next six months will find places about the same as, or higher than, those now prevailing — if they can find a plot available.

Steady prices for part-time farms during the next six months were forecast by 67 per cent of the real estate board in 245 communities. Higher price tags were anticipated by 23 per cent of the areas, and only 10 per cent looked for any drop in prices.

Much the same picture is in prospect for full-time farms. About two-thirds of the communities predicted that prices will remain at the current level, and one in every four foresaw a rise during the next six months.

THE APPARENT strength of the farm real estate mraket was reflected more clearly by prices than by volume of sales reported in the survey. Comments volunteered by participants indicate that high farm productivity makes present owners reluctant to sell, although demand is good and prospects for farms plentiful. Even in areas where adverse weather conditions have reduced this year's yield, farm owners are holding firm.

Prices for part-time farms near suburban areas are the same as, or higher than, they were six months ago, in 55 per cent of the communities and higher in 25 per cent.

REALTORS apparently look for these small plots to become somewhat more readily available during the first half of 1953, since 67 per cent anticipate about the same rate of turnover, and 22 per cent expect more sales.

A similar pattern is drawn for full-time farms. Prices are at about the same level as six months ago in 90 per cent of the communities. Volume of sales is the same as six months earlier in half the reporting areas, higher in 18 per cent, but lower in 31 per cent.

Local Persons In Limelight As Vegetable Growers Hold Meeting

The largest demonstration of vegetable production machinery and equipment ever seen in the southland cloesd the most successful convention of the vegetable growers association of America last month at Tampa, Florida, with several local persons involved.

Walter Sass, president of the Cook county organization, was presented with an honorary membership to the national group in recognition of his years of work for the organization. Carol Wille, Arlington Heights high school graduate and state vegetable queen, was in the court of national queen Janet Wilkins of Homer, New York.

Selected treasurer of the national group was Elmer Steil of Des Plaines. One of the directors is Walter Sass.

In the final hours of this convention the VGAA passed 20 resolutions favoring peace and prosperity; opposing inflation, price and wage controls, susidies and price supports; favoring uniform motor vehicle laws, regulations, and taxes; requesting agricultural exemption of motor carriers; favoring more efficient distribution of vegetables, more and better research; recommending increased good producer-consumer regulations; opposed to government program stimulation, or inhibition; equality and free enterprise to public utilities

4-H And FFA Calf Club Sale February 28

February 28 will be the date of the fifth annual 4-H and FFA purebred dairy calf club sale at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, according to an announcement by C. S. Rhode, Illinois extension dairyman.

Rhode, who is in charge of sale arrangements at the college, expects about 100 head of select dairy heifers born after July 1 to be offered by auction to 4-H and FFA members. There will be about 20 to 25 calves from each of the Holstein, Brown Swiss, Hersey and Guernsey breeds, and 10 to 15 ayrshires.

The sale is sponsored by the Illinois purebred cattle association to help the club members get excellent project heifers.

This event, held in the stock pavilion on the ag campus, offers an unusual opportunity for young folks to find so many top heifers to choose from at one sale, Rhode says. Many of the calves from the previous sales have made fine show ring records.

Here Are Results Of a Farmer's Own Tests with Hoover COLLOIDAL PHOSPHATE, the Soil Builder

John Bunting, Danforth, Illinois, wanted to know what would bring best results in his own fields. So he put Colloidal Phosphate to a comparative test with his favorite chemical fertilizer, 3-12-12, in a field of corn. Results were decisive. The chemical fertilizer produced a yield of 71 bushels per acre at a cost of $2.30 per acre. Colloidal Phosphate brought 78.9 bushels per acre at a cost of $1.50 per acre. Think of it . . . 11% bigger yield at 35% lower cost! And that is typical of results secured by farmers the country over, for Colloidal Phosphate brings better results in practically any soil or climate. Action is immediate, because minerals are in the colloidal form plants require . . . ready to enter directly into the cellular structure and produce plant growth. Digestible is the word for it!

Whether it's used for grain, hay, legumes, vegetables or flowers, Colloidal Phosphate brings amazing results.

Just as Colloidal Phosphate is the natural source of phosphorous, Marland (greensand marl) is rich in pottassium plus many trace elements.

Marland releases these elements from insoluble form in the soil and feeds them to the plants as needed. It loosens and opens hard soils, binds sandy soils, regulates moisture and stimulates soil organisms. Marland absorbs sun heat in early spring, warming soil for earlier crops; also holds high moisture content, thus cooling soil during hot and dry weather.

While Colloidal and Marland may be used separately with good results, the two combined assures practically everything needed for ideal soil conditioning and heavy growth.

WHAT COLLOIDAL PHOSPHATE AND MARLAND DO . . .

- ★ Sweeten soil; counteract soil acidity.
- ★ Lower cost of fertilization.
- ★ Build up reserves of plant food.
- ★ Improve soil quality and texture.
- ★ Improve mineral content and quality of crops.
- ★ Conserve and retain moisture in soil.
- ★ Hasten maturity; increase quantity and quality of crops.
- ★ Stimulate germination when mixed directly with seed.
- ★ Can be broadcast or drilled with seed, thus saving cost of advance application and one complete discing job.
- ★ Promote growth of bacteria and soil organisms.
- ★ Feed freely through any fertilizer distributor. No special equipment needed.
- ★ Blend with soil and all other forms of fertilizer material.

And both are non-toxic to man, animal, soil, plants or machinery (never cause rusting or corrosion).

FREE BOOKLET describing all these Hoover soil conditioners and showing many test results is yours for the asking. Write today.

Miller, an aircraft mechanic, joined the 2nd last June. He entered the army in September, 1951.

Taxpayers Now Popping The Question - 'What's Deductible

The question of "what's deductible?" is of great interest to the taxpayer.

If a taxpayer or his spouse has attained the age of sixty-five, the five per cent limitation on the deduction of medical and dental expenses no longer applies. The taxpayer is entitled to deduct the entire amount of medical and dental expenses incurred for himself and/or his spouse, subject only to the maximum allowance, or $1,250 for each exemption.

LOSSES ARE allowed for property damaged or destroyed by natural forces such as freezing, fire, storms, floods, earthquakes, tornadoes or collision or some other type of casualty not caused by the willful negligence of the taxpayer. There losses may be either on one's personal property or on income-producing property like a building or a farm.

The amount of loss is determined by the difference in the fair market value of the property just before the casualty and the fair market value immediately after the casualty. However, the loss may not exceed the actual cost of the property involved. Any insurance received as reimbursement must be offset against the loss of the property to determine the amount of net deduction.

THE LOSS of property sustained through theft or burglary may be claimed if evidence is submitted, but misplacement or careless leaving of an article or negligence in watching something like a purse or suitcase does not qualify the loss as deductible.

* * *

A PARTIAL list of items which you may not claim as expense is given for your study:

1. Funeral and burial expenses.
2. Cost of burial plot or vault.
3. Wages paid to servants, nursemaids and baby sitters, even though such expense is incurred because it is necessary for you to go to work.
4. Carfare or train fare paid in going to and from work.
5. Expense of maintaining your automobile used in going to and from work, or for your personal and family use.
6. Cost of your lunches or suppers while working.
7. Carrying charges on purchases. Only part of what you pay when you are buying "on time" is interest, which must be stated separately to be deductible.

GIVEN BELOW is a partial list of items which are deductible on a Federal income tax return by individuals electing to itemize their deductions:

1. Dues and assessments for professional or business organizations.
2. Professional magazines and journals.
3. Fees paid to an employment agency for obtaining a position for you, but not any expense you pay in seeking a position.
4. Bond premium you pay as a bonded employee.
5. Small tools which have a life of one year or less. (If you are required by your employer to furnish them).
6. Safety deposit box fees, if the box is rented to protect income producing securities.

AUTO EXPENSE is deductible only when it is an ordinary and necessary business expense in the conduct of your duties for your employer. The mere fact you prefer to use your personal automobile in going to and from work instead of the street car or bus does not change the fact that it is a personal expense and as such is not deductible for income tax purposes.

The following automobile expenses are deductible if incurred in the pursuit of a trade or business and must be prorated according to the percentage of time used for business purposes:

1. Garage rent and parking fees.
2. Gasoline and oil.
3. Repairs and minor replacements.
4. Depreciation prorated over the life of the car.
5. Insurance.
6. License fees.
7. Minor equipment for car.
8. Washing and simonizing.

An itemized account of such expenses must be attached to the form.

OFFERS
THE FOLLOWING OUTSTANDING HOMES
THAT SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES

OUTSTANDING BUY

I am a one year old Red Face Brick Ranch Home, custom built to my owner's rigid specifications. I have a spac. 27' liv. rm. with picture window and a woodburning fireplace. My very modern kitchen was built by Youngstown, and includes an exhaust fan. I have 3 lovely bedrooms all with wardrobe closets, and a tile bath. I have that much sought after basement, and am heated by gas. I am located on a spac. 60 x 190 foot corner lot in very desirable Palanois Park. Offered far below replacement costs at only $18,750.

NORTH SIDE

You will find that I am located conveniently to Catholic and Public Schools. I am a snow white masonry 6 Room Colonial, kept in perfect condition by my thoughtful owner. With 3 twin size bedrooms, full basement, gas heat and att. garage. I have beautiful private landscaped grounds with a screened patio. Priced for quick sale at only $19,500.

VALUE WITH COMFORT

I am a Redwood Ranch and you will enjoy the comfortable living that is afforded by my 24' carpeted living room, large cabinet kitchen, 3 twin size bedrooms, 2 baths. I have a full basement, and gas heat. There is also an over sized 2 car garage. I am completely landscaped and offer immed. possn. Owner transferred, priced to sell at $19,950.

WOODED ESTATE

You have passed and admired me, and now I am for sale. I am a very attr. 5 room Tri-level, located in a beautiful wooded estate section, surrounded by towering oaks, with Park Like grounds measuring 180 x 190. I have sep. living and dining rooms, completely carpeted. A bright modern kitchen with Formica and tile trim, with 2 bedrooms and a tile bath. My English basement is paneled and is a comb. recrn. room and utility. There is a large glazed porch and an attached garage. Truly a home and grounds to enjoy. Priced at $26,000.

YOU COULD PAY THOUSANDS MORE

You will find upon inspection that I am truly deluxe Brick Ranch Home with the finest appnmts. thruout. My thoughtful owners planned me around a center entrance hall, which eliminates all cross traffic. I have a magazine kitchen done in natural birch, with large Formica counters, which includes a dishwasher and exhaust fan. I have a spac. soft restful carpeted "L" shaped living and dining room with a red brick wood burning fireplace. I have a ceramic tile bath plus a powder room, and 3 fine bedrooms. A full basement with a wood burning fireplace, which will make an ideal recr'n. room. And a very unusual and efficient gas radiant heating system. Of course I also have an attached 2 car garage, and am located in a very fine area on a spac. landscaped corner lot 75' x 186'. Owner traneferred, price reduced for quick sale to only $32,500.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is a diamond the only really "correct" stone for an engagement ring?

A. While the diamond is the conventional symbol of "the singleness and durability of love," it is by no means the only "correct" stone. Sometimes the girl's birthstone is used in the ring, or some other stone of her preference.

Q. Who should select and engage the clergyman for a church wedding?

A. Usually the ceremony takes place in the church which the bride and her family attend.

Q. Are the members of a bereaved family expected to return all calls of condolence?

A. No; this type of visit is never returned, nor should it be expected.

Q. When a married woman is writing a note of thanks for a gift presented to her and her husband, should she sign both her husband's name and her own?

A. No. She should sign only her name, but she should mention her husband's name somewhere in the note, as, "Harry and I wish to express our deep appreciation, etc."

Q. What would be an appropriate toast for the father of a bride-elect to propose in announcing her engagement at a dinner party?

A. "I propose to drink to the health of Mary and the young man she has decided to add permanently to our family, James Martin."

Q. What is the proper way to remove a fruit seed, or a small piece of bone, from the mouth while at the table?

A. Between the thumb and forefinger — never with the napkin, or by pushing it out into a spoon.

Q. When a man is escorting a woman and another man offers her a seat in a public conveyance or picks up something she has dropped, isn't he supposed to lift his hat to that man?

A. If he has any sense of courtesy, he does.

Q. How should one eat olives at the table?

A. Unless a special fork or spoon is provided, one may take the olive with the fingers. Eat around the pit, then place the pit on the side of the plate.

Q. When a hostess is pouring ocffee or tea, should she place a spoon on the saucer?

A. Yes.

Q. Is it proper for a woman to rise when another woman leaves the room?

A. It is a nice thing to do when the woman leaving is much older, but it is not necessary otherwise.

Lessons In .... English

by W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused

Avoid saying, "I hate to see you go." Say, "I dislike to see you go." "Hate" means extreme aversion, especially with enmity or malice.

Remember that "swam" is the past tense of "swim," and that "swum" is the past participle. Thus: "He swam in the pool yesterday." "He has swum in the pool a number of times previously."

Do not say, "He is some better today," or, "They have changed the arrangement some." Instead, say, "He is somewhat better today," and, "They have changed the arrangement somewhat."

The use of "slick" in the sense of "slippery" is a provincialism, and should be avoided in formal usage.

Do not say, "I have no hopes of going." Say, "I have no hope of going."

Do not say, "However did you manage it?" Say, "How did you manage it?"

Words Often Mispronounced

Cowardice. Pronounce the i as in kiss, not as in dice, accent first syllable.

Conflict (noun and verb). Accent the noun on the first syllable, the verb on the second syllable.

Culinary. Pronounce the u as in cute, not as in rude.

Fiduciary. Pronounce fi-du-shi-er-i, first i as in it (not as in fine), u as in use (not as in rude), accent second syllable.

Eerie (weird). Pronounce e-ri, e as in eat, accent first syllable.

Words Often Misspelled

Southwester (strong wind from the southwest); sou-wester (a hat worn especially at sea in stormy weather). Boudoir, though pronounced boo-dwar. Cayenne (pepper). Lightening (making lighter); lightning (flash of light in the sky). Protege (masculine); protegee (feminine). Pseudonym; observe the pseu.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Aggregate (noun); a mass, assemblage, or sum of particulars. "A nation is but an aggregate of individuals."

Abnormal; unnatural; exceptional; irregular. "He was an athlete of abnormal strength."

Animadversion; remarks by way of criticism and usually of censure. "The company dismissed several of its salesmen with severe and sharp animadversions."

Indignant; wrathful because of unjust treatment. "Their accusations have made me very indignant."

Discredit (noun); lack of reputation. "I have found nothing whatever to his discredit."

Rep. Church Assigned To Major Committees

Marguerite Stitt Church (R. 13th District of Illinois) recently re-eletced to Conress by a plurality of 107,628 over her Democratic opponent, has been assigned to the powerful House foreign affairs committee. This committee is charged with the scrutiny and development of the foreign policy, now so signally important both to our prospects of peace and to every facet of our domestic economy and national well-being.

Mrs. Church also retains her membership, as in the 82nd Congress, on the important committee on government operations (until recently called the committee on expenditures in the executive departments). She will serve as ranking member of the subcommittee on executive and legislative re-organization, which has jurisdiction over all presidential plans and legislation to reorganize the departments and agencies in the executive branch of government.

She has likewise been appointed to the military operations subcommittee — whose jurisdiction covers all activities (other than combat) of the army, navy, air force and the marine corps, with surveillance over the expenditures of defense appropriation with particular regard to the elimination of injudicious and extravagant spending of defense appropriations — and more important — of manpower.

I'll Be Happy To Loan You $25.00 For 10 Days For 25c

No Co-Signer Necessary

No Time-Taking Embarrassing Investigation

Money On First Visit

Everything Can Be Arranged By Phone

THEN WHY STRAIN A FRIENDSHIP asking for a loan and risk being turned down? Isn't it worth 25c to protect your pride, to keep your affairs to yourself?

YES, 25c IS ALL that $25 costs you at Imperial for 10 days. That cost is based on rates set by Illinois Small Loans Act (3% monthly, up to $150; 2%, $150 to $300; 1%, on up to $500).

GET THE $10, $25 OR $50 you need to tide you over until payday from me.

It will be simple. Just phone, tell me how much and when you'll be in. I'll let you have the money on just your signature; no co-signer; no time-taking, embarrassing investigation.
